in low-scoring thriller

Indian bowlers, led by an outstanding Jasprit Bumrah, fired their team to a thrilling six-run win over Pakistan in a low-scoring T20 World Cup match in New York on Sunday. Bumrah (3/14) and Hardik Pandya (2/24) gave nothing away while defending a paltry 120, and India restricted Pakistan to 113 for seven. Earlier, pacers Naseem Shah and Mohammad Amir produced wonderful spells as Pakistan bowled out India to 119 after a couple of rain interruptions | P17

COALITION AND CONTINUITY IN MODI

● RAJNATH, SHAH, GADKARI, SITHARAMAN, JAISHANKAR IN TOP TEAM ● CHOUHAN, NADDA, KHATTAR AMONG NEW MINISTERS

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi returned to power on Sunday with almost all his top-ranked ministers, giving a clear indication that he will take forward the policies and agendas set in the NDA-II government. However, the Modi 3.0 government will have to take its coalition partners along.

President Droupadi Murmu administered the oath of office and secrecy to Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his 72-member cabinet comprising 30 cabinet ministers, 5 ministers with independent charge, and 36 ministers of state at the forecourts of the Rashtrapati Bhavan. The event was attended by about 8,000 guests, which included specially invited foreign dignitaries.

With the oath taken for a third consecutive term, Modi also became the first non-Congress leader and the second PM after Jawaharlal Nehru to remain in power for three consecutive terms. Dressed in a white kurta with a matching blue-coloured jacket, Modi took the oath in Hindi as the head of NDA-III government.

After Modi, Rajnath Singh, who was the defence minister in the previous government, was administered the oath of office. Amit Shah, home minister in the previous government, was the next to be sworn in. Nitin Gadkari and J P Nadda followed next.

In the 2024 general election, the BJP did not achieve its target of winning of 370 Lok Sabha seats on its own as it got only 240 while the NDA as a whole won 293 seats.

After taking oath, PM Modi said his government will continue working for 140 crore Indians and fulfil their dreams.

Notably, Modi dropped three senior leaders — Anurag Thakur (elected but not inducted), Smriti Irani (lost the election), and Rajeev Chandrasekhar (lost) — though there were speculation they might be included in the cabinet.

Among the 30 cabinet ministers who took the oath included Nirmala Sitharaman, S Jaishankar, Piyush Goyal, Ashwini Vaishnaw, Hardeep Puri, Giriraj Singh, Dr Jitendra Singh, Ram Das Athawale, Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, Arjun Meghwal, Bhupendra Yadav, Mansukh Mandaviya, Sarbananda Sonowal, Kiren Rijiju, G Kishan Reddy, Nityanand Rai, Dharamendra Pradhan, Jyotiraditya Scindia, Pralhad Joshi, Virendra Kumar, S P Singh Baghel, L Murugan, and Anupriya Patel.

Among the new faces are Suresh Gopi and George Kurian from Kerala; Ajay Tamta (Uttarakhand); Shantanu Thakur and Sukanta Majumdar (West Bengal); C R Patil (Gujarat); Raj Bhushan Chaudhary and Ramnath Thakur (Bihar), among others.

Representation from across states, sections and classes

BJD defeat: Pandian quits politics

Former bureaucrat V K Pandian on Sunday announced his withdrawal from active politics following the BJD's drubbing in both the assembly and Lok Sabha polls. "My intent in joining politics was only to assist Naveen Babu, and now I consciously decide to withdraw from active politics," he said | P7

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi's new cabinet reflects a pan-India presence as it has representation from across 24 states and Union territories. The ministers belong to various sections, classes, and backgrounds.

Though the BJP did not fare well in Uttar Pradesh, the representation of ministers from this state is at 9 — higher than other states and UTs. Bihar has 8 ministers, Maharashtra and Gujarat have 6 ministers each, while Karnataka has 5.

As assembly elections in Bihar is in 2025 and BJP with JDU and other local allies is aiming to win big in assembly elections, the state was given 8 ministers spread across its allies JDU, LJP and HAM.

Out of the 72 ministers inducted in the cabinet, 43 ministers have more than 3 terms in the ministry while 39 are with past ministerial experiences. Thirty-four have already served in state legislatures. Notably, 23 ministers inducted in the third term cabinet of Modi government have experience in working as ministers in states and 27 are from OBC, 10 from Scheduled Castes, and five from Scheduled Tribes.

Among the most notable inductions are Suresh Gopi and George Kurian from Left-ruled Kerala, where the BJP managed to open its account this time.

Also, ministerial berths have been given to 5 MPs from various minority communities. This time, the cabinet has more experienced politicians as ministers than the NDA's first and second terms. With a target of making India the world's third largest economy in next five years, PM Modi has five former chief ministers — Jitan Ram Manjhi from Bihar; HD Kumaraswami from Karnataka; Shivraj Singh Chauhhan from Madhya Pradesh; Manohar Lal Khattar from Haryana; and Sarbananda Sonowal from Assam.

The Modi 3.0 cabinet will have seven women ministers, including two in the Cabinet role. The new ministers inducted into the council of ministers are former Union minister Nirmala Sitharaman; BJP MPs Annpurna Devi, Shobha Karandlaje, Raksha Khadse, Savitri Thakur, and Nimuben Bambhaniya; and Apna Dal MP Anupriya Patel.

There were 10 women ministers in the previous council of ministers, which was dissolved on June 5.

NCP rejects MoS rank, insists on cabinet berth

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

NATIONALIST Congress Party (NCP) on Sunday turned down the BJP's offer to make its leader Praful Patel a minister of state with independent charge in the new NDA government.

Patel said since he had already served as a cabinet minister in the UPA government, accepting the office of the minister of state with independent charge would be a demotion for him. Party leader Ajit Pawar concurred and said the NCP has told the BJP it is ready to wait for a few more days, but it wants a cabinet berth.

BJP leader and Maharashtra deputy CM Devendra Fadnis said the BJP had decided on a criteria for handing out ministerial berths to coalition partners on the basis of their numbers. "But because of one party, the criteria cannot be twisted," he said. "The NCP will be accommodated in future whenever their will be an expansion of the Cabinet," he added.

KSRTC GETS 'SHAKTI', HITS RECORD REVENUE OF ₹3,930 CR

Jump in traffic earnings attributed to increase in non-Shakti pax

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

THE Shakti scheme, which offers free travel to women in government buses and is one of the first guarantee schemes of the Congress-led state government, has come as a gift for the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) as its traffic revenue for 2023-24 witnessed a jump and stood at Rs 3,930 crore.

KSRTC Managing Director Anbu Kumar said, "The total traffic revenue of KSRTC was Rs 2,738 crore in 2016, Rs 2,975 crore in 2017, Rs 3,131 crore in 2018, Rs 3,182 crore in 2019, Rs 1,569 crore in 2020 (dip due to Covid-19), Rs 2,037 crore in 2021 and Rs 3,349 crore in 2022. After Shakti, the revenue for 2023 is Rs 3,930 crore, excluding April and May as the scheme was rolled out in June."

He said that from June 2023 to May 2024, the total traffic revenue was Rs 4,809 crore and he attributed it to the increase in non-Shakti passengers. While Shakti revenue is 42.5 per cent (Rs 2,044 crore), non-Shakti revenue is 57.5 per cent (Rs 2,764 crore). "When a female passenger uses our service, she is not alone all the time. She is accompanied by her husband or children, thereby increasing the non-Shakti revenue," he explained.

"Earlier, our daily revenue was around Rs 9.7 crore, which has now jumped to Rs 13.9 crore. Further, there were dull days like Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and the load factor was around 50-60 percent earlier. But after Shakti, our load factor (number of seats filled) is over 85 per cent and there are no dull days now. Also, the load factor is not high only during peak hours, but non-peak hours too. All these helped increase the revenue," he added.

Kumar said KSRTC has made this record without any fare hike and despite the cost of diesel going up to Rs 90 per litre.

RTC STAFF, UNSUNG HEROES BEHIND SHAKTI SUCCESS

Bus drivers and conductors, mechanics and all the staff of the four bus corporations - Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC), Kalyana-Karnataka Road Transport Corporation (KKRTC), North West Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (NWKRTC) and Bengaluru Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTCL) -- strived day and night and faced many hassles to make the Shakti scheme a success. Representatives of the KSRTC Staff and Workers Federation said that despite a shortage of 14,000 employees and shortage of buses, the Shakti scheme was launched without any preparation. Employees too had not imagined that they would have to cater to such a large number of passengers and faced many hassles to make the scheme a success. KSRTC MD Anbu Kumar said that without the support of the employees, the scheme could not have been a big hit and they are the unsung heroes.

Passengers need not worry about change. With the ETMs, passengers can pay using GPay, PhonePe, Paytm and their credit and debit cards — Anbu Kumar, KSRTC MD

You can buy tickets via UPI from June 25

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

FROM June 25, passengers travelling in Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) buses can pay through UPI, debit and credit cards and need not worry about carrying cash.

KSRTC will launch a pilot project of electronic ticketing machines (ETMs) in four depots from June 25. It will be scaled up to all buses in a few weeks after all conductors are trained. The transport corporation has taken 10,245 ETMs on a rent of Rs 645 per month per device.

KSRTC MD Anbu Kumar said, "After working on the modalities, we are introducing ETMs this month-end. Passengers need not worry about change and there will be no complaints against conductors not returning change. With the ETMs, passengers can pay using GPay, PhonePe, Paytm and their credit and debit cards."

EbiCash Ltd has bagged the contract for five years to supply ETMs and help KSRTC transition to an intelligent transport management system. The company will provide backend and interface software for ETMs, a KSRTC official said, and added that the machines are running successfully in states like Maharashtra. "Conductors have to just select the boarding and departure stops, and choose the number of passengers and the mode of payment. The fare is automatically calculated and the ticket generated after the amount is paid. The machines can be locked and if they are stolen, they can be tracked like a smartphone," the official added.

The handheld ETM will come with an RFID device and has a camera to scan and validate smart cards like e-passes. In case the government issues smart cards for Shakti scheme beneficiaries, that too can be incorporated into the system, Kumar said. While there are many other features like tracking online reservation systems and issuing tickets based on vacant seats, location tracking and other advanced features, they will not be included immediately, KSRTC officials said.

2 B'luru boys make it to top 20 in JEE advanced results

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE results for the JEE Advanced examination were announced on Sunday, and two Bengaluru boys secured their spot in the top All India top 20 ranks. Shawn Thomas Koshy, who scored 325 out of 360 (AIR 15) and Amogh Agarwal, (who had scored 100 percent in JEE Mains) secured AIR 20, with 322 out of 360.

Passionate about programming, Shawn often creates useful apps in his free time. Speaking to TNIE, Shawn's mother Rose Mary John, an employee of Infosys said, "He enjoys programming, and recently created an app that can automatically consolidate all photos into PDF format. Previously, he had also made a finance app that could help one track their expenses." Shawn is a student of GEAR International School and his father Nishil Koshy is an alumni of IIT Kharagpur, who had also scored AIR 257 in 1993 and now owns a startup.

Inspired by his father's journey, the Bengaluru boy plans on opting for IIT-Bombay and pursue Electronics and Robotics field.

Amogh Agarwal the other student from Bengaluru who made it to the top 20, was one of the few students to secure a cent percentile in the state in JEE Mains. Son of Salil Agarwal, co-founder of a software company, and homemaker Avantika, Amogh said, "Two years of my hard work has finally paid off. I will be applying for one of the best IITs - IIT

Bombay."

A student of Narayana CO School, Kaveri Bhavan, Amogh said that he made sure to follow his teachers' instructions, and reached out to them whenever he needed support. "I studied to my capacity, and kept my schedule flexible. I sometimes played sports to refresh my mind, and then got back to the grind."

After a year of travelling from home to college in Grade 11, for Grade 12 he moved to the college hostel to focus better on his studies. The 18-year-old added that the key to a good result is being calm and giving it your best attempt.

When asked about his stand out performance, Amogh, who aspires to be a Computer Science Engineer, said, "I am not any different. I am just a regular guy, who worked hard and I followed my dream."

Several students from Karnataka have performed well in the examination and have made it to the top 100 list.

Student launches campaign on labour issues in fast fashion

BIJOLPITA BHADURI @Bengaluru

A 14-year-old student, who aims to bring about a change in society, has launched an online campaign against fast fashion, where big fashion outlets to exploit their workforce.

She wants the income tax department to bring about a new section called Per Capita Income of a Garment Worker (PIGW) in the income tax filing, which mandates all companies to disclose how much each garment worker earns, and is verified by the Ministry of Textiles to ensure transparency.

MP Sudiksha Chandra, a Class 9 student of DPS East, has been running the online campaign that aims to bring smiles on the face of garment workers. Its focus is to fight for the rights and fair wages for all garment workers across the country. It wants to eliminate forced labour in the fast fashion industry. "Through PIGW, it would become easier for the government to trap companies that fail to pay living wages of the workers who are not able to even meet their basic needs," Sudiksha said.

In December 2021, it was reported that over 4,00,000 garment workers in the state were receiving wages below the legal minimum in over 1000 factories since April 2020.

"Labour groups estimate the total unpaid wages to be more than $50 million and this was claimed to be the worst wage theft in the global garment industry," she said. Workers stated that they were unable to afford even basic requirements like food, house rent and school fees of their children, she added.

Sudiksha asserted that she reached out to all major fashion outlets across the city on the issue, but did not receive any answers. She urged people to adopt alternatives like slow fashion, sustainable fashion, thrifting, and using clothes made from natural fibres.

DEMAND FOR GOATS HIGHER THAN SHEEP THIS BAKRID

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE price of sacrificial livestock has gone up ahead of the Eid al-Adha (Bakrid) festival, which will be celebrated on June 17. However, shepherds lamented over the decline in the demand for sheep and oxen this year, compared to the goats.

Shakib, a farmer who has been selling sheep in RT Nagar for the last 15 years told TNIE that he and his family would travel from Bagalkot to the same spot every year during Bakrid. "Last year, we sold more than 150 sheep. Expecting similar demand this year, we transported 200 sheep from Bagalkot via a hired lorry. However, sales have been limited to just 40 sheep so far. We could not even recoup the transportation costs," he added.

Shopkeepers also mentioned that goat sales are high, as customers from Kerala and Tamil Nadu prefer goats and oxen over sheep. "Last year, we had several customers from Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh and Kerala requesting for oxen. We made arrangements accordingly this year as well. However, this year the demand for oxen has also come down."

Farmers and shepherds also mentioned that due to their limited availability, the price of goats weighing between 18-19 kg has risen sharply from Rs 12,000 last year to over Rs 20,000 this year. In contrast, sheep prices have remained relatively stable, ranging from Rs 15,000 to Rs 50,000, similar to the last year's price. Zakhir, another seller mentioned that, there is a preference for sheep over goats in Bengaluru, therefore the city has limited goat sellers. He also mentioned that many people are pooling in money to buy a goat or sheep along with their neighbours and relatives to share the cost. This is affecting the sales and profits as well, he added.

Map out a careful strategy and you could do very well indeed.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Don't be slow in coming forward, for you deserve to be number one. And neither is there any need to pursue a conventional course. If you follow a hunch then you might find that you reach your destination by a very different and much quicker route.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You can afford to be quite laid-back today, but if you're right in the middle of a professional wrangle or any dispute with authority, check up on the legal angle, and ask whatever questions are necessary to get to the right answer. Don't worry about what other people think - that's their business!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You might believe that money is the most important thing in the world, but you're wrong. It's the law that matters most, and you need to be absolutely and perfectly sure of your rights as soon as possible. And then there's a little question of justice - and that's your real goal!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
When the circumstances demand, you can always call on your legendary compassion, and it's extremely likely that others will look for your sympathy today. However, in spite of first appearances, the best remedy may be no more taking than amice chat with a close friend!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
There is a narrow line to be drawn between keeping your emotional defences up, which is desirable, and cutting other people out, which is not. It's all a matter of being kind to yourself, but maintaining a proper balance all round, acknowledging partners' very real concerns.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It looks as if this might be a very busy week, which is one good reason to take things slowly and conserve your energy today. But, then, it could be the case that, while your plans change frequently, you don't actually achieve a great deal! A child or younger relation requires reassurance.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
If you sense that you're about to hit an emotional turning-point, you're right, which is why this particular time is so vital for making sure that your emotional foundations are firm. You must convince other people that you know what you're doing - and that you can succeed!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There's an old saying that life is what happens when we are busy making plans. The lesson is to focus on the here and now, engage with close friends and family, and recognize that no matter what happens in the big wide world, it's the people closest to you who matter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may look back on previous financial blunders and wonder how you were ever so naive. However, according to one of those strange laws of fate, the moment you dwell on the past, someone will take advantage of you again. Focus on everything that's good - and things must get better.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The Moon is making its presence felt again, so take advantage of every single opportunity to exert emotional control, especially at home. Always be flexible, for the moment you lapse into old habits, your actions will rebound on you. And that would never do!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Everything that happened over the last two weeks, and even over the last six months, can be seen as a rehearsal for the coming upheavals and opportunities. Make sure you have all plots and schemes thoroughly worked out in your own mind before going public.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 20)
You are still living an inner life that fewer people can glimpse and fewer still can understand, but the cumulative result of everything that takes place this week should be to give you a sort of inward glow. You should believe in yourself, even when other people can't grasp what you're doing.

STEPDAD TAKES CASH, ABETS MINOR'S RAPE, 3 CAUGHT

Trio arrested after victim, a domestic help, shared her ordeal with her employer who alerted an NGO

MOHAMMED YACOUB @ Bengaluru

In a shameful incident, a man allegedly facilitated the rape of his minor stepdaughter aged 17, in Kadugodi police station limits in Bengaluru.

It is learnt that two friends of a migrant worker from West Bengal, who works as a security guard at a school, had been repeatedly raping the minor girl at their house in Ramamurthy Nagar by paying a few thousand rupees to the victim's stepfather. Police arrested the trio.

The accused, Sagar, who cleaned washrooms, and Sawan, who works at a chicken stall, were friends with the minor girl's stepfather from some time. After paying him, the accused had been taking the girl to their room and sexually assaulting her since April, police said.

The incident came to light when the victim, who worked as a domestic help, shared her ordeal with her employer, who took up the matter with an NGO. Officials from NGO alerted police about the dastardly act. Following the tip-off, police kept watch on the girl's movements and caught the accused from their room.

A case was registered on Thursday and the accused were arrested on Saturday night. "A case under relevant IPC sections and provisions of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act were registered, and the accused were produced before the magistrate, who remanded them in judicial custody," a police official said.

Recently, Begur police arrested an illegal Bangladeshi migrant and his wife in connection with the rape of a minor girl. An activist said incidents of rape, assault and harassment of poor West Bengal migrants, who come in search of jobs to Bengaluru, are on the rise and police have to step up vigil.

KAMS raises concern over students migrating from state board to others

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Associated Managements of Primary and Secondary Schools in Karnataka (KAMS) have written to the Karnataka State Commission for the Protection of Child Rights (KSCPCR) and sought the committee's intervention in protecting the rights of students of the state board. The association has alleged that due to the education department's lackadaisical approach, students are unable to perform on par with other boards, affecting their future.

The various changes in curriculum, textbooks and exams have led to confusion for the past year for lower classes that are "discriminatory" and not at par with the NCERT syllabus. The letter also reads that KSCPCR should conduct an investigation into the matter and step in to protect the rights of children.

Shashi Kumar D, general secretary, KAMS, alleged that in the past four years, there has been a large migration of students from state board to CBSE and ICSE. If this persists, private state boards will cease to exist. "This year itself, private schools have lost at least 10-15% admissions due to the way the state board is functioning. Parents feel that other boards are providing better quality education and have less interference." He added that given that many top performing students in several entrance exams for different fields are from either CBSE or ICSE.

"Parents have the notion that their child is missing out on an opportunity. The state board does not follow spiral or integrated curriculum, depriving many of the competitiveness needed in education," Kumar explained. The letter states that pre-primary and primary classes are the ones missing out on a good foundation that needs to be addressed, and called it a "system failure".

Missing gold ornaments: Bank attender gets bail

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

GOLD ornaments, weighing 646.70 gm and worth Rs 40 lakh, are missing from the safe deposit locker of the Kamalanagar branch of the Indian Bank on West of Chord Road in the city. The missing gold ornaments were pledged by customers.

The incident came to light when the zonal manager of the Indian Bank visited the branch recently to verify cash and gold ornaments kept in the strong-room and safe deposit lockers.

Since Branch Manager Niranjana Kuppan and Assistant Manager Manuel Jayasheel did not respond positively when enquired about the missing ornaments, the zonal manager filed a complaint with the Basaveshwara Nagar police station.

In the first information report registered on May 19, Kuppan and Jayasheel were arrayed as accused No 1 and 2, respectively. Along with them, Sanjay Kumar BN, working as an attender on daily wages at the bank, was shown as accused No 3. Apprehending arrest, Sanjay Kumar approached the 59th Additional City Civil and Sessions Court seeking anticipatory bail.

After hearing the prosecution and the petitioner's counsel on May 31, Judge Somashekar A said that in the FIR, police have stated that there is some suspicion against the petitioner. At this stage, prima facie it appears that the petitioner being an attender in the bank was not entrusted with lockers or keys where ornaments were kept. It is a general rule that the branch manager will keep the locker keys of the customers but not the attender, the judge said.

The judge also noted that for every bank, there is CCTV surveillance and the police and the complainant can look at it and find the real culprit. Without that the attender cannot be made responsible for committing the theft in the bank. The investigation is yet to be begun and at this stage, it is not proper to express the merits or demerits of the case. It is improper to say that the accused committed the theft as alleged by the prosecution, the judge observed.

Granting anticipatory bail to Sanjay Kumar, the court imposed conditions that he should execute a personal bond of Rs 1 lakh with a surety for the like sum, surrender before the jurisdictional magistrate within 10 days and file a regular bail petition.

CURTAIN FALLS ON MOVIE DAYS

Romance of single-screen theatres has been replaced by 'mall culture' and convenience of OTT, leading to their phaseout

AKNISREE KARTHIK &
MOHAMMED YACOUB

THOSE who were born in the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s used to wait for the day when they could head to theatres and immerse themselves in the joy of watching movies with cool drinks, popcorn, fryums and puffs, the halls filled with whistles, clapping and dancing fans, and return home after having their favourite chaat or ice-creams or masala dosa. Those golden days are long gone -- with the entry of multiplexes in the early 2000s and popularisation of OTT (over-the-top) platforms in the last decade, single-screen theatres are now on the verge of extinction.

Some popular single-screen theatres are now converted into marriage halls, shopping complexes, educational institutions and film shooting centres. Many theatres have been razed to make way for other structures and multiplexes due to increasing real estate value.

The closure is also attributed to people's ability to afford a unique living experience and comfort that has brought them close to the 'mall culture'. Ample space to park vehicles, an online booking system and the ability of multiplexes to create a cohesive and engaging cinematic experience for the audience have also drawn the masses.

250 theatres shut since January 2023

The success of Kannada films like KGF, Kantara, Charlie 777 and Kaatera gave a perception that the golden days for Kannada cinema were back. However, with 150 theatres shutting down since January 2023 and over 100 theatres on the verge of closure by the year-end, the future of single screens look bleak.

"Earlier, top heroes used to make at least four films a year and this helped theatres in districts, taluks and hoblis pull the crowds. Now, stars have stuck to the 'one movie a year' formula. Secondly, high-budget films end up fixing a high rate of admission, which leads to small theatres losing out to multiplexes, and finally, OTT platforms prevent the public from coming to theatres," said NM Suresh, president of Karnataka Film Chamber of Commerce.

Well-known theatre operator N Kumar, who once had 115 theatres on lease and has produced over 35 films, has bid goodbye to the business of running single-screen theatres. "I cannot afford to run theatres and am now doing production and planning for films. Paying power bills, water bills, salaries, ESI and PF to staff posed a big challenge to us," said N Kumar.

The closure of single-screen theatres is not just restricted to cities like Bengaluru but is a common phenomenon in Mysuru, Mandya, Tumakuru, Hubballi, Dharwad, Kodagu, Udipi, Belagavi, Chitradurga, Hassan, Davanagere, Dakshina Kannada and other districts, with many iconic theatres becoming part of history.

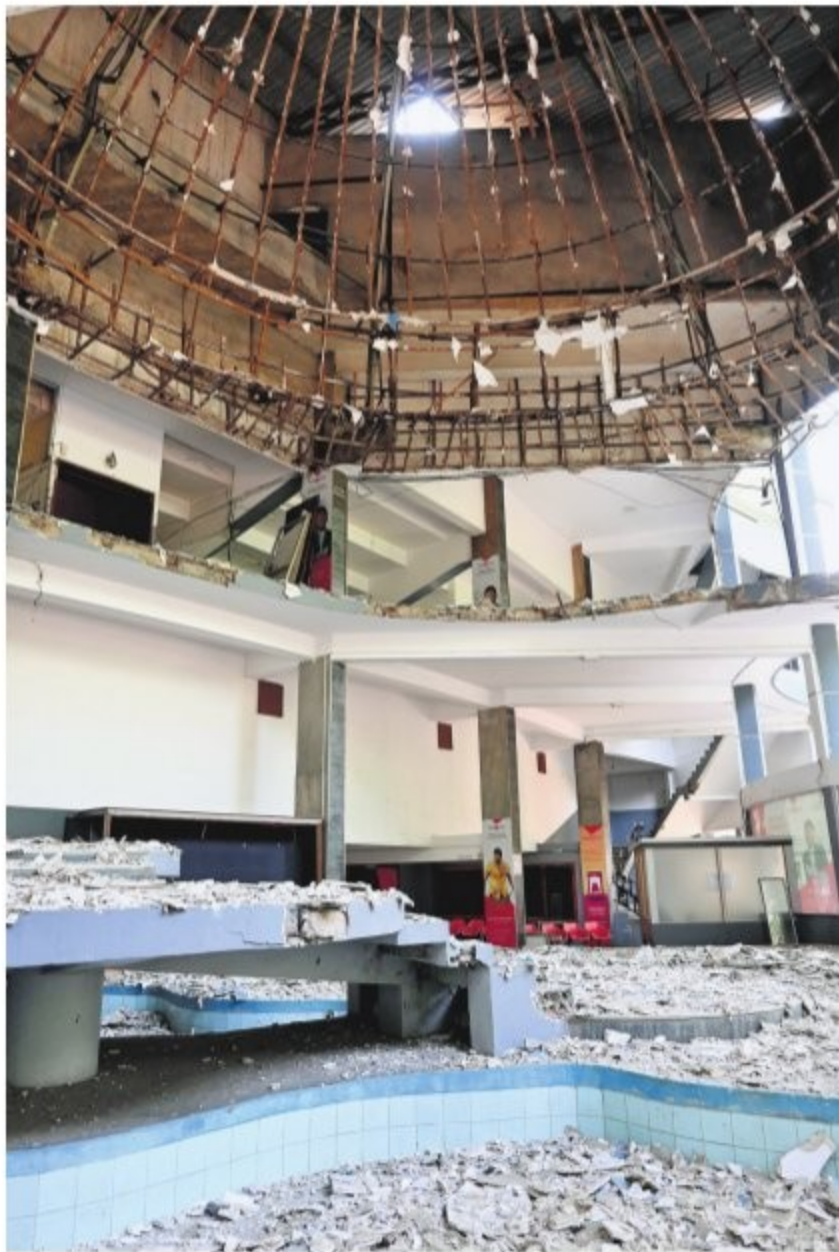

"In the late 1990s, there were 1,000 theatres in Karnataka. In the last 15 years, the number came down to 350. Since January 2023, around 150 theatres have been shut. In Hubballi, around 10 theatres closed, while in Mandya, Mahaveer, Girija and Siddhartha theatres were shut, and in Tumakuru, Prashanth was closed in 2023," Kumar said.

The other reasons for theatres closing is the lack of release of mass hero films and production cost of big budget films going up to Rs 100 crore, said Kumar.

MYSURU

Before the coronavirus pandemic, Mysuru had 32 single screens, but post-pandemic, the numbers had come down to just 11. Theatre owners claim that running a cinema hall is not financially feasible anymore.

Lakshmi Talkies, one of the oldest theatres in the city, is now history. Similarly, Saraswathi theatre is closed. Shalimar and Ratna are converted to educational institutions, Ranjit is now a shopping mall, Sterling and Skyline are film shooting centres, a showroom has come up in Vidyaranya theatre, while Ganesh and Srinand have been converted into marriage halls.

Cinema buff Sridhar said, "Maharaja Jayachamarajendra Wadiyar and Maharaj Srikanthadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar used to watch English movies at Regency and Gayatri theatres. Kannada matinee idol Rajkumar used to watch movies at Shanthala theatre. Bollywood actor Dilip Kumar watched a movie at Olympia theatre. Kannada movie Bangaradha Manushya had run for two years in Chamundeshwari theatre. Similarly, Kamal Hassan's Sagara Sangamam and Marocharitra ran for one year at Gayatri. All these theatres are now history."

Film buff Murali said it was a tradition in Mysuru for newlywed couples to watch a movie in a city theatre and follow it up with masala dosa and jaamoon at the famous Indira Bhavan Hotel. "Watching movies at the theatre and later having good food at traditional hotels had been a part of people's life in Mysuru," Murali said.

Infrastructural development in the past two decades, coupled with improvement in people's ability to afford a unique living experience and comfort has brought people close to the 'mall culture'. Though many single-screen theatres are still operating in Udipi, like Kalpana, Diana and Alankar, one city theatre Geethanjali city closed its doors eight years ago as audience preferences changed.

Movie buff Deepak Saligrama said, "Ambience, comfort and affordability have drawn people towards multiplexes. Ample space for parking of vehicles, online booking system and the ability of multiplexes to create a cohesive and engaging cinematic experience for the audience also increased footfall in multiplexes."

In Karkala, single-screen theatres Radhika and Planet are functioning. The recent single-screen theatre that shut its door was Vinayaka in Kundapur town. Earlier, there were four single-screen theatres in Kundapur town and now with the closure of 'Vinayaka' theatre, there are no more single-screen theatres in Kundapur.

'Kavirathna Kalidasa', the 1983 Kannada-language historical drama film based on classical Sanskrit writer Kalidasa, starring Rajkumar, was shown in this theatre for the first time, besides several other hit films. Rishab Shetty's Kantara was shown in this theatre for 100 days. Pushparaj, owner of Vinayaka theatre, said the theatre was closed due to scarce audiences.

Stating that the economic viability of single-screen theatres is a significant challenge, Mahesh Kugaji, who has already closed two of his three single-screen theatres, said, "Maintaining and upgrading these often-historic buildings can be prohibitively expensive. The multi-screen venues introduce schemes like free popcorn per ticket or a monthly package scheme. Single-screen theatres cannot afford to introduce such schemes."

Kugaji said that coupled with increasing real estate value, many owners opted to sell their properties to developers, leading to a reduction in the number of single-screen theatres. While single-screen theatres face numerous challenges in the modern entertainment landscape, their charm and historical value continue to inspire preservation efforts, he said.

About 60 single-screen theatres in North Karnataka, including Hira, Huns, Radio, Roopali, Rex, Azad and Arun theatres in Belagavi city were closed after the pandemic.

KODAGU

Theatres are hard to find in Kodagu district and the district headquarters of Madikeri does not have a single theatre. It was known to have two single-screen theatres -- Basappa which was established in 1972, and Cauvery which initially functioned from a tent, also established in 1972. However, both theatres have now shut down and the facades stand demolished. While Basappa shut its doors due to losses nearly two decades ago, Cauvery shut its doors in 2020 during the lockdown. Currently, the district has only four theatres and this includes a modern Cineplex in Kushalnagar.

"People now watch movies on OTT. However, a theatre in the district headquarters is a must and steps need to be taken to establish one," shared Anil HT, a resident of Madikeri who is a movie buff. There is no entertainment opportunity for residents or tourists in the city, he added.

The Karnataka Soaps and Detergents Ltd, manufacturer of iconic Mysore Sandal Soap, recorded its highest sales turnover in the last 40 years, exceeding Rs 1,500 crore as on March 2024

He said that functioning of theatres in a district affected by wildlife conflict is a tough task. "During the day, residents go to work. And in interior parts of Kodagu, people cannot go out post 6pm due to wildlife movement. People cannot attend the second show at theatres, and the existing single-screen theatres in the district are struggling to make ends meet," he said.

DAKSHINA KANNADA

The district had more than 30 single-screen theatres but most of them have been shut down with the arrival of multiplexes. Theatre owners say that people do not watch movies in single-screen theatres due to a lack of quality content and people opt for OTT. As many as 30 single-screen theatres have been shut down due to various reasons. "There were 10 single-screen theatres within a 6-km radius in Mangaluru, of which Amrit at Pandeshwar, Platinum at Falnir, New Chitra and Srinivas at Carstreet, Central at State Bank, and Jyothi at Ambedkar Circle have disappeared already," said a film producer.

Santhosh, of 46-year-old Santhosh single-screen theatre which shut down recently in Sullia, said, "Earlier, there were no mobile phones or televisions in homes. Families used to go to theatres to watch films. Now they are all watching movies on OTT platforms. Also, star actors are releasing one or two movies in 3 to 4 years. Films of new actors do not run for long in theatres," he said.

Now, Sullia, Bantwal and Puttur do not have single-screen theatres. "We have Sutchitra, Prabhat, Ramakanti, Roopavani single-screen theatres in Mangaluru, Bharat in Belthangady and Amarashri in Moodbidri," a film producer said.

DAVANAGERE/C'DURGA

Scarcity or non-release of movies by top stars and the increasing number of OTT applications, are said to be the reasons for the diminishing number of theatres in the twin districts, says Ravishankar Babu, who owns a theatre in Harihar.

He said there was no big movie from Yash after KGF-2, Darshan's Kaatera was the last big movie, and the demise of Puneet Rajkumar also led to few big movies and the slow death of theatres. Further, he said there are no viewers for movies of new actors and also non-commercial movies. The cost of maintaining theatres is abnormally high, because of which they are turning into commercial complexes.

In Davanagere, out of 13 theatres, only three are functional. In Chitradurga, out of six theatres, only three are working, while in Harihar, only one single-screen theatre is operational.

HASSAN

Eight single-screen theatres of 20 have been closed so far. Decades-old Mallikarjuna and Banu theatres on BM Road, and Imperial on Hassan-Holenarasipur Road in Hassan are closed. Currently, SBG on Harshamah Road, Pruthvi and Guru on BM Road, Sahyadri on Salagame Road and Picture Palace on City Bus Stand Road are running and trying to attract people by also screening English, Tamil, Telugu and Hindi movies. The five-decade old Imperial theatre was demolished due to its pathetic condition a decade ago, Mallikarjuna was turned into a commercial complex and Banu theatre was abandoned due to litigation.

Three theatres have been functioning in Channarayana, Arasikere and Sakleshpur taluk centres, and one each is closed so far. Holenarasipur has two, Arkalgud and Belur towns have one each, and all are limping due to a lack of cinema lovers. On condition of anonymity, one theatre owner said he is not interested in renovating or providing better facilities due to poor revenue. Sources said many theatres screen for only 10 people, and cannot even bear the power bills, and operator and staff salaries. Chandranna, a former employee of a theatre, said owners have invested in real estate and commercial complexes.

Retaining single-screen theatres

Suggesting measures that single screens can take to prevent closure, well-known theatre operator N Kumar said, "If theatre owners reduce ticket rates along with cost of food in theatres, more people will be interested to come."

There were times when two movies of Kannada matinee idol Rajkumar used to run in different theatres at Kempe Gowda Road in Majestic. If producers and directors give a good films people will come, Kumar said and added that one good cinema will take care of 15,000 families dependent on theatres, Kumar said.

He also suggested that new movies should be allowed on OTT only after they complete 60 days in theatres.

State gets 5 Union ministers

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

AS Karnataka has elected 19 National Democratic Alliance MPs, the highest from South India, it was on Sunday rewarded with five ministerial posts in the Modi 3.0 cabinet. Of the five ministers, including Rajya Sabha member Nirmala Sitharaman, two are women.

Apart from Nirmala, the four other ministers are Pralhad Joshi, JDS state president HD Kumaraswamy, Shobha Karandlaje and V Somanna. While Nirmala, Joshi and Kumaraswamy have cabinet rank, the other two are ministers of state. Interestingly, Kumaraswamy was among the first few MPs to take oath in New Delhi on Sunday evening.

Of the 293 NDA MPs, the state's contribution of 19 MPs constituted over 6 per cent and the number of ministries too is above that mark, considering that the Modi cabinet has 72 ministers.

Even among these five ministers, the representation to the Old Mysore region is more. Kumaraswamy represents Mandya, Shobha Bangalore North and Somanna Tumkur. Joshi, who has been reinducted, is the only MP from North Karnataka. This could be because of the lacklustre performance of BJP in these parts. Though the saffron party members won from the coastal region, they are all first-time MPs and have not been included in the ministry.

Joshi, who has the Sangh Parivar background and is the fifth time MP, had served as Law and Parliamentary minister in the previous government. Shobha, the first-ever woman MP from Bengaluru, had served as a minister of state.

Somanna, who was with Congress and JDS, joined BJP in 2009 and has stayed with the party since then. After suffering a defeat from two constituencies in the last Assembly polls, he won the parliamentary polls this time from Tumkur. His loyalty to the party has paid off with a ministerial berth.

Kumaraswamy, who is JDS state president, became a chief minister for the first time in 2006, thanks to his party's alliance with BJP. But as per the power-sharing agreement between the two parties then, he refused to transfer power to BJP's BS Yediyurappa in 2007, ending the coalition. The fallout was ugly and the two parties had kept their distance since then. But the 2023 Assembly polls were a wake-up call to the regional party as it won mere 19 seats. Fearing a complete meltdown, the party tied up with BJP for the Lok Sabha polls and Kumaraswamy helped BJP get a good number of seats in the Old Mysuru region.

Breaking down the caste equation, two Brahmins (Joshi and Nirmala), two Vokkaligas (Kumaraswamy and Shobha) and one Lingayat (Somanna), have made it to the Modi ministry.

Sources from BJP said that though two Vokkaligas have been given the honour, only Shobha is originally from BJP. Asked why former chief ministers Basavaraj Bommai and Jagadish Shettar were not inducted, they said, "Since both are former CMs, they cannot be made ministers of state."

Will work in interest of Karnataka, says HDK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

JDS state president and former CM HD Kumaraswamy for the first time became a union minister as Narendra Modi's cabinet was sworn-in in New Delhi on Sunday evening. Though he was the ninth to take oath as cabinet minister, he was the first among NDA partners. It is a testimony to the BJP-JDS pre-poll alliance that had the blessings of Kumaraswamy's father and former PM HD Deve Gowda.

After the swearing in, Kumaraswamy, who is likely to get an agriculture-related ministry, said he will work in the interest of the state, including the sanctioning of pending projects.

The rank and file of JDS, ecstatic over Kumaraswamy's inclusion, celebrated across Old Mysuru region, where the party's presence is prominent. Party leaders Nikhil Kumaraswamy, JDS core committee chairman GT Deve Gowda, Bandeppa Kashempur and others were in New Delhi witnessing the swearing in.

"I have taken oath as a Cabinet Minister in the NDA Government led by Hon'ble PM Shri @narendramodii avaru. I extend my respectful thanks to Hon'ble President Mrs. Draupadi Murmu for administering the oath. I also thank the citizens of the Mandya Lok Sabha Constituency, the people of Karnataka, and the cadres of the JDS and BJP parties for giving me the opportunity to serve the country," he posted on X.

Being the son of HD Deve Gowda, he has joined a rare league of children of former PMs working in the central cabinet.

Earlier, former Indian PM Lal Bahadur Shastri's sons Harikrishna Shastri and Anil Shastri (one time each) and Chaudhary Charan Singh's son Ajith Singh (thrice) had served as Union ministers.

Kumaraswamy was first elected to the Lok Sabha in 1996 after winning the Kanakapura seat. But he switched to state politics and became an MLA in 2004 and served as CM of Karnataka between 2006 and 2007. In 2009, he switched back to national politics after getting elected from the Bangalore Rural LS seat and that was when it was speculated that he could become a deputy PM.

He again returned to the Assembly in 2013. In 2018 when the state threw up a fractured mandate, he became the chief minister of the Congress-JDS alliance government which lasted hardly a year. He was elected MLA from the Channarayana Assembly seat in 2023. JDS forged an alliance with BJP for the Lok Sabha polls and he won from Mandya.

Gowda: Will help deliver on sabka saath, sabka vikas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FORMER prime minister and JDS supreme HD Deve Gowda, who did not attend the swearing-in ceremony of the central government in New Delhi on Sunday, however extended his party's full support to the National Democratic Alliance government. "As a member of the NDA, we look forward to working with you and helping you deliver on your agenda of 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas' (With all, Development for all)," he mentioned in his letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Sunday.

Gowda's son and former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy took oath as a cabinet minister. Gowda, in his letter, called Modi swearing in for the third time as a truly historic occasion. "As I have said many times in the past, this is the result of his almighty's extraordinary blessing on you. I have no doubt that you will continue to be showered with the lord's blessing, and will continue to serve our great nation with absolute dedication that we have all become familiar with for a decade," he said.

Gowda also said the elections have thrown up interesting results. "It proves the vibrancy of Indian democracy," he said. Slamming Congress, he said the results also expose the ugly campaign of Congress to discredit our institutions and democratic processes.

PANDIAN RETIRES FROM ACTIVE POLITICS AFTER BJD LOSS

He was under fire for the slump after party was voted out of power, ending Naveen's five terms as CM of Odisha

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bhubaneswar

BUREAUCRAT-turned-politician VK Pandian, Biju Janata Dal supremo Naveen Patnaik's closest aide and confidant, on Sunday announced his retirement from active politics in what was one of the shortest political careers that lasted just seven months.

Five days after the regional party was voted out of power by a mandate that was overwhelmingly in favour of the BJP, Pandian took to social media platform Instagram to announce he was quitting active politics.

Pandian was under fire for the spectacular slump of the BJD in the 2024 elections which ended Naveen's five terms as CM of the state. Several senior leaders opened up after the BJD's poll debacle and targeted Pandian for keeping them away from cam-paing which they said enabled the BJP to push the Odia Asmita issue among the voters.

The BJP received a historic mandate, romping home with 20 out of 21 LS seats and 78 in the State Assembly. In its worst poll performance, the regional party managed just 51 seats in the State Assembly besides drawing a blank in the Lok Sabha. After the poll debacle, he remained out of public domain and was not seen in party's review meetings chaired by Naveen.

In his message, Pandian apologized to the party and the Biju Pariwar. "I am sorry if this campaign narrative against me has had a part to play in the BJD's loss," he said in his message. Saying that he came to politics only to assist his mentor Naveen Patnaik ahead of

BJP, CONG LASH OUT AT PANDIAN AFTER RETIREMENT

Hours after VK Pandian, close aide of BJD supremo Naveen Patnaik announced his retirement from active politics, the BJP and Congress described it as a 'drama' and demanded that he should be held accountable for his deeds. BJP spokesperson Pitambar Acharya said that the arrogance and vehemence shown by the former bureaucrat during the election campaign was unheard of, in the state. Stating that crores of Odia people have been robbed by the cartel of Tamilians under the BJD rule, Acharya said they should be punished. Pandian was projected as Naveen's heir in politics, he added. OPEC president Sarat Pattanayak also said that Pandian's retirement should have come earlier, so that the state could have been saved. Retirement after destroying everything is only a drama, he said and added that Pandian should be held accountable now that a BJP government is going to be sworn in.

the grueling elections, the 49-year-old Pandian said, his only intent was to help the BJD supremo.

Pandian had announced at an election meeting at Brajrajnagar in Jharsuguda district that he will quit politics if Naveen Patnaik did not become the chief minister for the sixth consecutive time after the assembly election. He had also stated at several meetings that Naveen will be sworn in as the chief minister on June 9, 2024.

The former bureaucrat who was always with the party supremo and campaigned along side him during the election, said he had no desire whatsoever for a specific political post or power. "Therefore I was neither a candidate nor was holding any post in the party. It has been my shortcoming that I could not effectively counter the political narratives," he said.

Pandian said the only property he owns is the one he inherited from his grandparents. His property statement, he said, has remained unchanged in the last 24 years ever since he joined Indian Administrative Service. He heaped praise on outgoing CM Naveen Patnaik for his grace, ethics and vision as well commitment for the people of Odisha which Pandian said inspired him.

It was his overbearing presence in the BJD's electioneering that had made him the target of the BJP which went after Pandian, calling him an 'outsider' as part of its Odia Asmita (Odia Pride) campaign. The saffron party had made the 'outsider' pitch its core campaign agenda and it went all out against Pandian, accusing him of holding Naveen captive.

TOO LOUD TO TAKE

WHO: Overuse of headphones puts 1bn at risk of hearing loss

BANDHAVI ANNAM @Guntur

THE proliferation of electronic gadgets, particularly earbuds and headphones, has coincided with a troubling rise in hearing problems. The World Health Organisation (WHO) reports that over 1 billion people aged 12 to 35 are at risk of hearing loss due to prolonged and excessive exposure to loud music and recreational noise.

According to the 2021 World Report on Hearing by WHO, by 2050, approximately one in four people will experience some degree of hearing loss, a number that experts believe could increase significantly.

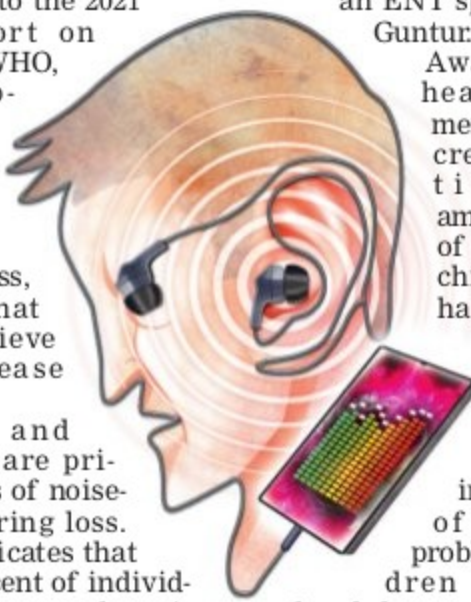

Earbuds and headphones are primary culprits of noise-induced hearing loss. Research indicates that about 65 per cent of individuals who use personal music players with earbuds or headphones consistently listen at volumes exceeding 85 (decibels) dB, which is harmful to the inner ear. Beyond music, these devices are also used for watching movies, TV shows, and videos on social media platforms, many of which do not regulate volume output, leading to dangerously high sound levels in subsequent videos.

To prevent severe hearing problems, experts recommend adhering to the 60/60 rule: listen to music at no more than 60 per cent of your device's maximum volume for no longer than 60 minutes at a time. Despite the growing awareness, a significant challenge remains in diagnosing hearing issues early. Many people ignore early warning signs and delay consulting a doctor until the situation worsens, according to Dr N Prasad, an ENT specialist in Guntur.

Awareness of hearing ailments has increased, particularly among parents of tech-savvy children. Radha Madhavi, a concerned parent, explains that after recognising the risk of hearing problems in children who use headphones for online gaming, she imposed restrictions on both headphone usage and screen time. This awareness needs to extend to adults and especially to the youth, who should take necessary precautions to protect their hearing.

By adopting safer listening habits and being vigilant about early signs of hearing loss, we can mitigate the long-term impacts of noise-induced hearing damage.

KUMKI JUMBOS

AP asks for 9 elephants from K'taka

ENS @Bengaluru

THE Andhra Pradesh forest department officials have placed a request before their counterparts in Karnataka to give them nine trained camp elephants.

While the staffers in forest department are still searching for the ones to be given, many activists have questioned the move of giving elephants. The activists have also said there is a huge risk of inexperienced kumki elephants (ones which are used to capture wild tuskers in conflict with humans) in the camps, more so after the death of famed Dasara elephant Arjuna. They also said that it was a bad idea of giving elephants to other states.

However, Principal Chief Conservator of Forests, wildlife, Subhash B Malkhadesaid, nothing has been so far decided. The request was made a month back. The staffers in the various camps have been told to identify and list the elephants that can be spared, the ones that are not in use. Every camp will have around 2-3 that can be spared. There are 100 elephants housed in various camps in the state.

"All camp elephants are not Kumki elephants and are not used for Dasara. The AP forest department has sought for the elephants for patrolling and not for kumki operations," he added.

Modi 3.0: Two from Kerala in cabinet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @T'Puram

IN a clear indication of the BJP-led NDA's continued focus on Kerala, that has given the saffron party a Lok Sabha MP, two berths in the Narendra Modi cabinet 3.0, have been allocated to the state. Thrissur MP-elect Suresh Gopi and senior BJP leader George Kurien were sworn in on Sunday as Ministers of State in the 72-member cabinet.

Though speculation was rife that Gopi would be given a cabinet berth, uncertainty surrounded it till Sunday morning as the actor-turned politician stayed put at his residence here. Gopi, who had earlier indicated that he may not take up ministerial responsibilities owing to movie-related commitments, hurriedly left for the airport from his residence at 11.15 am.

Speaking to reporters, 65-year-old Gopi said Modi had asked him to reach the national capital immediately. "He (Modi) has decided and I am obeying him," Gopi said. He reiterated that he intends to work as an MP for Kerala and the neighbouring state of Tamil Nadu as well.

Gopi defeated CPI leader V S Sunilkumar by a margin of nearly 75,000 votes in an keenly

George Kurien's induction into the Modi cabinet was kept a secret till a few hours before swearing in. Presently the state general secretary of the BJP and a staunch loyalist of former Union Minister V Muraliedharan, Kurien had served as the vice chairperson of the National Commission of Minorities and also enjoys a good rapport with the BJP central leadership.

According to BJP sources, Kurien was handpicked as part of the party's continued efforts to win over the Christian community. BJP hopes to win a few seats in the assembly polls in Kerala scheduled in 2026.

Swearing-in of Naidu govt: CS inspects venue

ENS @Vijayawada

CHIEF Secretary Neerabh Kumar Prasad has directed officials to make elaborate arrangements for the swearing-in ceremony of TDP supremo N Chandrababu Naidu as Chief Minister on June 12.

Neerabh, along with DGP Harish Kumar Gupta, and senior IAS and IPS officers, visited the venue of the swearing-in ceremony at IT Park near Kesarapalli village in Gannavaram mandal of Krishna district on Sunday.

After inspecting the arrangements, the Chief Secretary gave some suggestions to the officials.

As Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Chief Ministers of several States, Union Ministers and other dignitaries will attend the oath taking ceremony, the Chief Secretary directed the officials to make the arrangements in a foolproof manner.

LED screens should be installed at the venue and vantage points outside to enable the people view the swearing-in ceremony. Uninterrupted supply of power should be ensured.

Special barricading should be arranged to facilitate the smooth passage of dignitaries to the main dais.

TDP's Ram Mohan Naidu, Pemmasani, BJP's Varma from AP inducted in Union Cabinet

Three Lok Sabha MPs from Andhra Pradesh -- two representing the TDP and one from BJP -- have made their way into Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Cabinet 3.0. This is the highest number of MPs from Andhra Pradesh who have been inducted into the Union Cabinet since 2014. During Modi's first term, senior TDP leader P Ashok Gajapathi Raju was given a Cabinet berth. In 2019, the BJP contested the elections alone. As it did not win any Lok Sabha seats, there was no representation from the State in the Cabinet. From the TDP, Kinjarapu Ram Mohan Naidu, who secured a hat-trick win from Srikakulam, and first-time MP from Guntur Pemmasani Chandrasekhar have been chosen. The son of former union minister Kinjarapu Yerran Naidu, Ram is well-versed in Hindi and English. Pemmasani, a doctor by profession, is the wealthiest MP in the country with assets worth over Rs 5,000 crore. The surprise pick was BJP's Bhupathi Raju Srinivasa Varma, a first-time MP from Narasapuram Lok Sabha constituency. Varma started his political career with the BIYM (Bharatiya Janata Yuva Morcha). He secured an electoral win in his second attempt.

KSDL sales cross ₹1.5K cr, highest in 40 yrs

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Soaps and Detergents Ltd (KSDL), manufacturer of iconic Mysore Sandal Soap, recorded its highest sales turnover in the last 40 years, exceeding Rs 1,500 crore as on March 2024. Compared to the last financial year, there was an increase of Rs 195 crore in sales this year, which was a 14.25 per cent growth.

What helped the company is the launch of 21 new products, including shower gels, Mysore Sandal Wave Deo soap, glycerin-based transparent bathing bar, and a super premium bath soap -- Mysore Sandal Millennium Gold, priced at Rs 1,000 for 100 gm. The company, known for using pure sandalwood oil in its soaps, also tried to meet the demand and preferences of the youth and establish a foothold in North India.

KSDL officials told TNIE that a separate soap base is being prepared for glycerin-based products, and the company had procured machinery to meet its specific criteria, as new technology is required for production of these soaps.

KSDL MD Dr Prashanth PKM said plans are afoot to set up new plants in Mysuru and Shivamogga, apart from Bengaluru, with better machinery and utilisation space. He said Minister for Large and Medium Industries MB Patil had chosen to focus on North Indian states, where KSDL's market share is a mere 2.5%. "The majority of KSDL's sales are currently from southern states, where it stands at 81%," he added.

An official explained that the Mysore Sandal Wave Turmeric soap is crafted from high-quality vegetable oils and natural turmeric, while the Mysore Sandal Wave Lime combines deodorant properties with a refreshing lime fragrance, whereas the Mysore Sandal Wave Deo is infused with a rich, spicy, and mint fragrance.

Oath-taking in Odisha shifted to June 12

ENS @Bhubaneswar

The swearing-in ceremony of the first BJP government in Odisha was rescheduled from June 10 to June 12 in view of pressing commitments of PM Narendra Modi in the next two days.

Confirming the deferment of the oath taking ceremony, state BJP spokesperson Sajjan Sharma said the Prime Minister is scheduled to attend several important meetings on June 10 and 11. Modi will attend the oath taking ceremony after attending the swearing-in of Chandrababu Naidu in Andhra Pradesh.

The ceremony will be held at Janata Maidan at 8.35 pm, after a roadshow by the Prime Minister from Jaydev Vihar square, sources in the party said. Pradhan was a major contender for the CM post till he was selected as a minister in the new cabinet.

With Pradhan out, senior BJP leader and newly elected MLA from Brajarajnagar Suresh Pujari has rushed to New Delhi, fueling speculation that he may be a key contender for the top post, said informed sources in the party.

NEET discrepancies: Stalin highlights 'ill effects' of the test

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

AMID growing nationwide opposition to NEET due to allegations of paper leak and irregularities, Chief Minister MK Stalin on Sunday reached out to other states for support to end NEET by sharing the translated copies of the report of Justice AK Rajan committee in nine Indian languages in a post on his 'X' handle. The DMK president's outreach comes just hours after Congress leader Rahul Gandhi slammed Prime Minister-designate Narendra Modi over the alleged irregularities in the medical entrance test and promised to be the voice of the affected students in Parliament.

The DMK government had appointed the Justice AK Rajan committee to study whether NEET-based admission to medical courses has adversely affected the social, economic and federal polity, and the students of rural and urban poor.

The CM shared the soft copies of the committee report in English, Tamil, Malayalam, Telugu, Kannada, Hindi, Marathi, Punjabi and Bengali, and said the ill-effects of NEET could be understood better through the report. DMK was the first to foresee the hazards of NEET and the party undertook a large-scale campaign against it, the CM said in his post.

The committee's report, which is based on extensive data analysis and inputs from students, parents, and public at large, has been published and shared with various state governments to expose NEET's anti-poor and anti-social justice nature, the CM said.

Highlighting the key observations of the report, the CM said NEET neglects 12 years of school curriculum which is the crux of education and life curve. "NEET has only enabled and empowered comparatively low-performing students to get admission to MBBS. Therefore, the question of NEET ensuring the quality and merit of students is to be ruled out," the CM said, quoting the report.

Stalin also said NEET is an excruciating experience to a majority of students and it creates anxiety and stress and inculcates diffidence among students aspiring for MBBS. He also said with prevailing malpractices, NEET reduces the confidence of students and affects their psyche.

The CM also pointed out to another observation of the AK Rajan committee which said that the conduct of NEET and NEXT would tantamount to the union government taking complete control of all universities established by state legislatures and subjugation of the state government to the union government in all matters of education.

TRANSPARENCY MUST IN PANEL'S FINDINGS ON INFLATED NEET-UG SCORE

To change the headline or otherwise amid the din over the shock verdict of the general elections, the National Testing Authority (NTA) of the education ministry announced the NEET-UG medical entrance exam results the same day and walked into a minefield. The first aspect that caught the eye was 67 students getting the perfect score of 720 on 720, an all-time record. Granular analysis showed that some got 718 and 719, which was not normally possible. For, it's a pen-and-paper exam where the marking system is +4 for each correct answer, -1 for each incorrect answer and none for unanswered questions. To address the subsequent uproar and demands for a retest, the NTA revealed that the high scores were due to the revision in an answer key in the physics exam and on account of compensatory marks for loss of time at a few centres. As many as 44 of the 67 got 720/720 following revision in the physics answer key. Six others became toppers due to compensatory marks for loss of time. The NTA went on to add that the benchmark for extra scores came from a Supreme Court formula in a previous case. In all, there were over 1,500 beneficiaries in six centres. Since the matter continued to snowball and landed in various courts, the education ministry set up a four-member high-powered committee to review the grace marks and submit its recommendations within a week.

The NEET-UG is considered one of the world's biggest competitive exams. Over 23 lakh students appeared for the test this year. Its score is used to fill over one lakh seats at government and private institutions for Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery, 28,088 Bachelor of Dental Surgery seats, 52,720 AYUSH and 525 seats for the Bachelor of Veterinary Science and Animal Husbandry courses across the country.

While the probe panel bought the education ministry a bit of breathing space, its report also ought to address the question of accountability. The full report must be made public for transparency and restoring people's confidence in the testing system. It should also not affect the admission process and add to stress. Students have already hit the streets demanding a retest in cities like Varanasi. The unrest could spread. The anomaly is a bad advertisement for NEET that is already in the crosshairs of political parties. The ministry must set its house in order. Now.

GROUNDS LAID FOR LOWER BOND YIELDS

HIGH cost of capital has been one of the major reasons for the muted growth of private sector capex. Being the biggest borrower in the capital market, the central government has often been blamed for crowding out the private sector from the bonds market. With the average borrowing cost for the Centre having been over 7% whole of last financial year, and the government bond yields still trading persistently above 7%, the private sector has found it expensive to raise debt domestically. However, two events—RBI's ₹2.11 lakh crore dividend to the government and the government's bond inclusion—may force the yields to go down below 7% on a more consistent basis. Two other factors—continuity at the Centre of an NDA government, which has a proven track record of being fiscally prudent, and an estimated benign inflation in the current financial year—also strengthen the case for lower yields in the near future.

Government bond yields have been trading over 7% for over a year; only briefly did it go below the 7% mark in May this year. However, a bumper dividend from the RBI means that the government borrowings in the current fiscal may be lower than projected. The government has already budgeted for a lower fiscal deficit of ₹16.85 lakh crore than FY24's revised estimate of ₹17.34 lakh crore. With ₹2.11 lakh crore in dividend from RBI compared to ₹87,000 crore last year, the government is in a sweet spot as far as fiscal deficit is concerned. Therefore, government borrowing should be much lower this year, bringing down the yields on government bonds. Indian government bonds will be included in the JP Morgan bond index beginning 28 June 2024 and Bloomberg Bond Index from 31 January 2025. The inclusion of government bonds in international bond indices in the ongoing financial year should also help bring down bond yields lower—sub-7% mark. This should have a rub-off effect on the rest of the debt market, and corporate bond yields might also come down from the current levels. A lower interest rate regime should give a boost to private sector investment adding to the country's GDP growth in the current financial year.

QUICK TAKE

FOR MORE FORENSIC EXPERTS

THE Delhi High Court recently refused to admit photos as evidence of adultery in an alimony case, stating, "We may take judicial notice that we are living in the era of deep-fakes." The justices said the charge needed to be proved in trial. It's not surprising that modern technology is changing the way evidence works. But it's puzzling that raising a cadre of trained forensic experts who can authenticate such evidence does not seem to be high on the government's list of priorities. As this paper has held earlier, this needs to change. Forensic opinion provides scientific basis and neutrality that helps instil confidence in the justice delivery system.

MONDAY, June 9. As Narendra Modi assumes the office of the Prime Minister of India for the third consecutive term, India stands at a crossroads. Are we to expect a continuation of the Modi 2.0, with its bold and controversial interventions such as demonetisation, the abrogation of Article 370, Citizenship Amendment Act, and rebuilding of the Ram Mandir? Or will there be a significant and substantial break from the past? Will Modi's brand of "Hindutva socialism" continue or will it be overrun by "rewadi-populism", just to appease coalition partners and an opposition that is expected to be increasingly strident?

Special status for Andhra Pradesh and Bihar. Hundreds of lakhs of crores for the former's new capital in Amravati. Several plum cabinet positions bartered in exchange for continuing support. Even the sacrifice of key leaders, not just cabinet posts. But will this be enough? Will it work? This is the question on everyone's mind.

For starters, Modi 3.0 will flounder; even come unstuck, if there isn't a newer avatar of the "Hindu Hriday Samrat". No more the singular, authoritarian, centralised style, or a one-man show. Modi will not only have to share photo ops with other "lesser" mortals, he may even have to consent to be "co-garlanded" with alliance partners and regional satraps. Will eating humble pie come naturally to Narendra bhai?

Re-elected with a sizeable but sobering reduction in seats, Modi's leadership remains unchallenged within the BJP, as also among a substantial section of India's populace. Indeed, his previous two terms have seen the commanding heights of a distinct brand of governance marked by a pronounced presidential style.

Now, he has to change from the presidential to parliamentary style. To sustain India's growth trajectory and maintain its democratic fabric, Modi will need to alter this approach to ensure a more calibrated "coalition dharma". This means much lesser assertive central leadership and much more accommodative federalism.

Just as well. Coalition dharma was, until not too long ago, the defining feature of our democracy, the essential balancing act of managing political, religious, social, cultural and geographical diversity. By offering not so much a fractured but moderated mandate, the electorate has sent a definite signal to Modi: be less autocratic and more accommodating. From that point of view, the return to coalition dharma may actually be good for Indian democracy.

The term "coalition dharma" is particularly significant in the context of Indian politics. On one hand, it may refer to indecisive and compromised leadership, unable to carry out big-ticket reforms or work for the genuine interests of the nation. But on the other, when too much power is concentrated in the hands of a single individual or a small coterie of supporters, it may not necessarily mean something positive.

An unwritten code of conduct governs the behaviour of parties within a coalition government. This code necessitates mutual respect, consensus-building and a balancing of myriad interests. While Modi's BJP has previously enjoyed a massive mandate that eliminated the immediate need for coalition partners, now the party and its leadership will have to recalibrate itself to operate more effectively within the broader framework of a vast, diverse and multi-party democracy.

Modi's mettle will be tested given the criticism levied against him for centralising power using strong-arm tactics against opponents. Civil society has also been vocal about the control of mass media and the erasure of dissent in the public sphere.

The essential question, then, is whether Modi, once labelled "divider-in-chief" by his critics, can now metamorphose into "uniter-in-chief" for the Indian republic. This will require engaging constructively not only with coalition partners, but with

HOW A GREAT BHAKTI POET WAS AWAKENED

RENUKA NARAYANAN

FAITHLINE

THIS week, I would like to revisit the incredible legend of Meera Bai, the Bhakti poet. Meera came to Chittor in 1513 as a bride of fifteen, clutching her foot-high bronze statue of Krishna, her best-loved possession since she was five. She called him 'Shyam Sundar', the 'Dark, Handsome One'. A visiting ascetic at the Dakorji temple in Meera's grandfather's kingdom, Merta, owned it, obtained from ten days the Vindhya. Meera wanted it the minute she saw it and wept inconsolably, and so he let her have it.

Meera's husband Bhojraj, the Crown Prince of Chittor, let her be once he understood she could not be a wife to him, for she was married already in heart and head to Krishna. No children appeared to contest this rumour. Bhojraj died in battle against invaders, as did her tolerant father-in-law Rana Sangram Singh, king of Chittor.

The clan god of the Sisodias of Chittor is Shiva, whom they worship as Eklingji in his grand temple. But despite being taught that 'God is One', Meera clung to the singing-dancing path of Krishna-love. Meera saw him as her lord, and found poems pouring out of her. Many poems are attributed to her by the dotting common folk of Rajasthan, Gujarat and Brijbhumi, the old stretch of Krishna-country along the Yamuna. They sang her songs for nearly five centuries after she died in 1547 at Dwaraka. But for 21 years, Meera was immured in the Chittor palace.

Outside lay the bustle of the byways and temple fairs. Groups of wandering mendicants and devout lay people thronged the discourses of saints. A new movement, a spiritual revolution, had refreshed the common people for some time. It made them love God anew with the direct personal devotion called bhakti.

After Bhojraj died and his step-brother Vikram became king, Meera was unrelentingly persecuted. Her sister-in-law Uda Bai, who never liked her, was the new king's confidante. Uda's family pride was hurt by Meera's obsession with Krishna. Her complaints had not deterred the lofty natures of her father Rana Sangram Singh and brother Bhojraj. But Vikram was a pleasure-seeker who lacked kingly qualities.

At Uda's urging, Vikram sent a snake concealed in a basket of flowers to Meera but somehow it failed to bite her. He ordered poisoned thorns to be scattered on her couch but nothing pierced Meera's tender skin. Vikram put Meera into solitary confinement in a ruined old house said to be haunted by demons, a place of cobwebs, rats and bats. No food or water was allowed to her for ten days. But he and Uda found Meera serenely meditating on Krishna. Vikram then banned Meera from going to the Krishna temple or meeting the sadhus that came there to hear her songs.

Now Meera had to decide what to do. But

WINNIE MEDIA CONCEPTS

Despite being taught that 'God is One', Meera Bai clung to the path of Krishna-love, even in a kingdom that worshipped Shiva. Meera saw him as her lord, and found poems pouring out of her. Many poems are attributed to her in the old stretch of Krishna-country along the Yamuna whom could she consult? Was there no wise, honourable person who understood that a life without Krishna-love was a howling wilderness? "I know existence is just a passing illusion," thought Meera, with a sudden, lonely shiver. "But while we exist, we need love. The best love is to love God, and through that refining filter, love everyone with equal respect. But I am a woman and a royal woman at that. I have no rights at all. Who can advise me?"

Faint sounds from the outer courtyard broke into her tortured thoughts. The clink of cymbals, the beat of the hand-drum and a strain of pilgrim song wafted in through the window. 'Jamani, main na jiyun bin Ram...' she heard, 'Mother, I cannot endure to live without Rama', from Goswami Tulsidas's new Ramayana in the common people's language. Surely, Tulsidas would understand her desperate situation?

Meera asked her maid to discreetly ask the pilgrims to convey a letter from her to Tulsidas at Varanasi. The maid came back with their promise. Meera poured her heart out to Tulsidas:

"My humble greetings to the noble poet and true devotee of God. I write to say that I cannot forsake Krishna whom I have loved from childhood, merely because my relatives constantly torture me. I am no longer able to worship Krishna freely in the palace or meet God-minded sages and ascetics as is my practice. I have made Krishna my friend since I was a little child and am wholly unable to break that bond. Please advise me on the proper thing to do. Meera salutes you most respectfully."

An agonised wait followed. A fresh crisis appeared as a chalice of poisoned kheer: "Drink it, Meera. The king will be pleased that I watched you drink it," said Princess Uda. Meera was about to raise it to her lips when she noticed her maid's wide, terrified eyes, silently warning her not to drink. "I accept it, Krishna," said Meera and drank it. Flushed with emotion, she began to dance and sing, "I, Meera, dance with my anklets on. The king sent me a poisoned chalice but I drank it and laughed."

Uda ran away with a wail of terror. Within minutes, the tale flew from the palace to the bazaars of Chittor. Vikram and Uda were helpless against the tide of public opinion that surged through Chittor and in a few days, through all of Mewar.

Tulsidas's startling reply finally arrived. The legend goes that he wrote: "Abandon those who cannot understand you, even if they are your dearest relatives. Prahlad left his father Hiranyakashipu for that reason. All other relationships are unreal and transient. But not God-love."

That very day, Meera sent for permission to go on pilgrimage. Given the strong public mood in her favour, the king dared not withhold it, and Meera left Chittor forever to find Krishna.

Great leader

Ref: A mandate for constitution and consensus (Jun 9). Modi's invincibility took a slight hit, but that doesn't take away his status as a leader. Modi needs to ramp up his adjustment quotient to take the nation to greater heights. He is not as intransigent as he is made out to be, as was seen when he withdrew the three farming laws after a consensus was not arrived at between farmers and the Centre. Venkat Desikan, Chennai

Consensus imperative

The performance of the NDA is apparently poor as their projections were too ambitious. But taking into factors like anti-incumbency and misinformation campaigns, the performance is not dismal, though they have to depend on their pre-poll alliance partners for survival. For any major policy decisions, consensus will be imperative. Dhammarajan A K, Thalassery

Rahul's efforts

Ref: Congress asks Rahul to be Leader of Opposition in LS (Jun 9). Congress officially became the opposition party in the Lok Sabha after ten long years. Without Rahul Gandhi's yatras from South to North and in the Northeast, it could not have been possible. In the nation's interest, Rahul should accept the role in the Lok Sabha without hesitation. P Victor Selvaraj, Palayamkottai

Better candidates

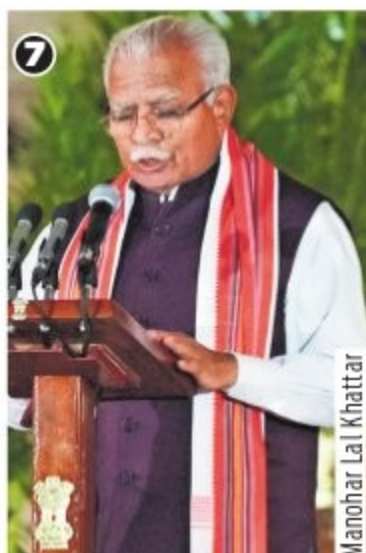

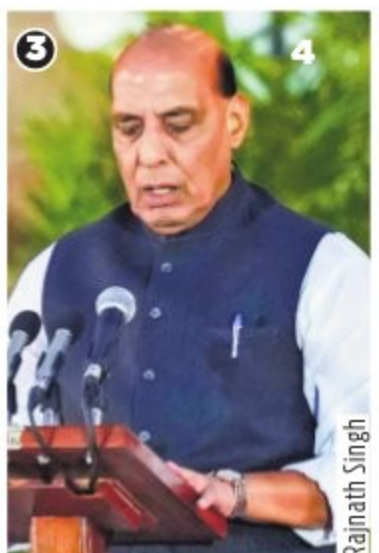

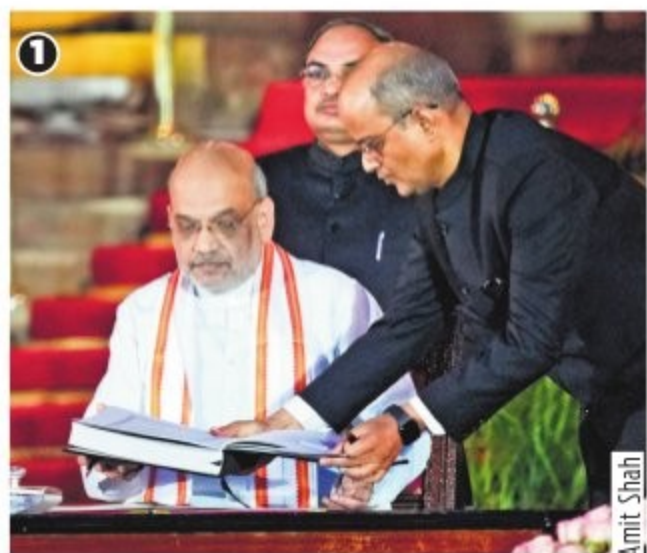

Rahul Gandhi always seems to avoid responsibility in the party, either inside or outside Parliament. His record in Lok Sabha was rather pathetic as a speaker. Further, he seems to avoid sessions where major decisions need to be taken. Congress has almost 99 MPs; they should go for a well-balanced speaker rather than going after an unwilling horse. Heartland Trouble

BJP FACES DILEMMA OVER BSP AFTER UP DEFEAT

There is a near consensus among BJP leaders that one of the main reasons for their party's big defeat in Uttar Pradesh was the shift in Dalit and backward votes to the Samajwadi Party-Congress combine. The two opposition parties had launched a relentless campaign that the BJP plans to change the Constitution and end reservation for SCs, STs and OBCs after winning the 2024 Lok Sabha election. In spite of repeated denial and debunking of this campaign by BJP leaders, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the issue had a considerable impact on the Dalit and OBC voters. A large chunk of Dalit voters shifted from Mayawati's Bahujan Samaj Party to the SP-Congress combine. A sizable number of OBCs, who had been backing the BJP, also shifted to the opposition combine. This led to a steep fall in the BJP's tally in Uttar Pradesh, leading to a loss of majority for the party in the Lok Sabha. A section of the BJP is of the opinion that a strong Mayawati could have made the UP contest three-cornered, which would have helped the ruling party bag a much larger share of seats from the state. But her perceived proximity to the BJP led to a consolidation of minority, Dalit and backward votes in favour of the SP-Congress alliance. What turned the tide decisively against Mayawati was her decision to remove Akash Anand as her successor right in the middle of the election campaign during which he had pulled out all the stops in attacking the BJP. The opposition wasted no time in accusing Mayawati of taking the action at the BJP's behest. Sources said that a large section of the BJP now wants a more active and attacking BSP which could win back its SC and Muslim votes from the SP-Congress to the benefit of the ruling party. The political dynamics in UP is set to undergo a major change.

Fraternal Fight

BJP REACHES OUT TO RSS AFTER 'NOT NEEDED' BARB

Prime Minister Narendra Modi reached out to the RSS leadership for consultation before the formation of the new government. Relations between the two fraternal organisations had reportedly got strained during the elections with reports that the RSS cadres were not very active in the field. There were also reports that the RSS had not rescheduled its Prashikshan Shivir (training camp) for its cadres, which coincided with the Lok Sabha election campaign. The divide between the two organisations increased with BJP president JP Nadda announcing that his party had grown strong and no longer needed the support of RSS in elections. The BJP president's statement did not go down well with the RSS. The Prime Minister, however, decided to ignore the election-time bitterness and sent the party president, home minister Amit Shah and defence minister Rajnath Singh for consultations with the Sangh before the formation of the new council of ministers. The BJP team met RSS leaders Dattatreya Hosbole, Suresh Bhaiyyaji Joshi and Arun Singh at the organisation's headquarters. The Sangh has reportedly not given any opinion on the council of ministers. It, however, wants to be consulted in the appointment of the new BJP president, when the extension given to the present one ends on June 30 this year.

My team is a blend of youth & experience: PM

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AFTER taking oath for a third term, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said the government will continue to work for 140 crore Indians to fulfill their dreams. "I am grateful to all the foreign dignitaries who joined the swearing-in. India will always work closely with our valued partners in pursuit of human progress," Modi said on X. "This team of ministers is a great blend of youth and experience, and we will leave no stone unturned in improving the lives of people," he said. The PM said he was looking forward to serving 140 crore Indians and working with the Council of Ministers to take India to new heights of progress. Ahead of the oath-taking ceremony, Modi had a pep talk with the minister-designates, saying people have huge expectations and everyone will have to deliver, sources said. "Be humble as common people love those who are humble and never compromise on probity and transparency," he told the ministers-designate.

The strength of the Modi ministry, including the Prime Minister, stood at 72 against the limit of 81. The first meeting of the Modi cabinet is likely to be held on Monday evening at the Prime Minister's Lok Kalyan Marg residence, sources said. Modi's third term, which always appeared inevitable, did not come with the massive mandate he and his party claimed, as the Congress and its allies in the INDIA bloc fought a do-or-die rearguard battle to shock the BJP in its strongholds such as Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan. The BJP had to depend on its pre-poll allies to help the NDA get a majority to form the government after a marathon election.

BJP's Maha caste, regional balance

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE BJP has tried to strike a regional balance by inducting five ministers from Maharashtra into the Modi cabinet. The party ministers are Nitin Gadkari (Nagpur), Piyush Goyal (North Mumbai), Raksha Khadse (Raver) and Muralidhar Mohal (Pune). Alliance partners are Shiv Sena's Lok Sabha MP Prataprao Jadhav (Buldharna) and Rajya Sabha MP Ramdas Athawale from RPI(A). That means four open category Lok Sabha members were sworn in while one OBC and one Dalit took the oath as minister. BJP lost all tribal seats in Lok Sabha elections. The Ajit Pawar-led NCP did not get the expected ministry. Gadkari, who belongs to the Brahmin caste, won for a third time from Nagpur. He is the only party MP from the Vidarbha region who was sworn in as minister. Gadkari earlier served as the BJP chief from 2009 to 2013. He is also known for his work as the PWD minister of the state, where, under his leadership, a series of roads, highways and flyovers were constructed. Piyush Goyal was earlier elected to the Rajya Sabha. He comes from Marwari community. His father was also a BJP leader. Goyal is the only minister from Mumbai and its metropolitan region.

He became the Minister of State for Power, Coal, New and Renewable Energy in the Modi government in 2014 and undertook multiple initiatives in his term. Under his tenure, India saw a proliferation of renewable energy through the world's largest renewable energy expansion programme.

Raksha Khadse is elected for the third time. She has risen from the post of sarpanch. She comes from the Leva Patil agrarian community that is part of the OBC community. She will be the only minister from north Maharashtra.

Muralidhar Mohal, BJP MP from Pune, belongs to the Maratha community and is the only minister from the western part of the state. He started his political career as a corporator in Pune Municipal Corporation.

Prataprao Jadhav, Shiv Sena MP from Buldhana belongs to the Maratha community. He comes from the Marathwada region. Since the BJP failed to get any seat from the region, it chose its alliance partner for the regional representation.

Khattar, 2 others to boost BJP ahead of Haryana poll

Bittu, who lost polls, chosen

From Punjab, the BJP has accommodated its former MP Ravneet Bittu, who lost from Ludhiana to Punjab Congress chief Amarinder Singh Raja Warring. Bittu, who switched from Congress, said he left the party because he wanted Punjab to have representation at Centre.

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE shadow of assembly polls in Haryana was visible as three state BJP leaders made their way to Team Modi-3. They are former Haryana CM Manohar Lal Khattar, former Union minister Krishan Pal Gurjar from Faridabad and Rao Inderjit Singh from Gurugram. The assembly elections in Haryana are due later this year.

Khattar was elected as MP for the first time. Prior to the elections, the BJP replaced him as CM with Nayab Singh Saini. Khattar was accommodated in the cabinet due to his proximity to Modi, a fact publicly acknowledged by the PM.

Rao Inderjit Singh, a significant Yadav leader and MP from Gurugram has been inducted into the Modi Cabinet to strengthen the party's influence in the Ahirwal region of Haryana.

Another leader and cabinet minister in the previous Modi dispensation, Krishan Pal Gurjar, MP from Faridabad, was also sworn in as minister.

From Punjab, the BJP has accommodated its former MP Ravneet Bittu, who lost from Ludhiana to Punjab Congress chief Amarinder Singh Raja Warring. Bittu, who switched from Congress, said he left the party because he wanted Punjab to have representation at Centre.

BJP chief JP Nadda, who belongs to the neighbouring Himachal Pradesh, has been re-inducted. However, former Union minister and Hamirpur MP Anurag Thakur is dropped.

Caste equation in mind, 8 from poll-bound Bihar

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

EIGHT ministers from Bihar were on Sunday inducted into the cabinet, factoring in the caste calculus in the state set for assembly polls next year.

Jitan Ram Manjhi

The 80-year-old patron of Hindustani Awam Morcha, coming from the most backward Musahar community, is a known Mahadalit face in Bihar. He served as CM for about 10 months when Nitish Kumar quit after JD(U)'s drubbings in 2014 polls. His induction is aimed at keeping the NDA intact.

Chirag Paswan

Chief of LJP(RV) Chirag Paswan emerged as a Dalit leader after his father Ram Vilas Paswan's death in October 2020. His party won all five seats it fought.

Raj Bhushan Prasad Nishad

Raj Bhushan, a doctor, joined BJP ahead of LS polls after snapping ties with VIP and won from Muzaffarpur with the highest margin. His induction is seen as an attempt to woo Mallah (fishermen) community ahead of state polls.

Satish Chandra Dubey

The 49-year-old RS member's induction is seen as an attempt to woo Brahmin voters in Champaran and Uttar Pradesh.

No BJP clean sweep in the desert state this time as the party won 14 against total 25 seats

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

DESPITE a significant setback for the BJP in the Lok Sabha elections in Rajasthan, the state's influence in the Union Cabinet remains strong. Four MPs from the state — Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, Bhupendra Yadav, Arjun Meghwal, and Bhagirath Chaudhary — are included in the Modi cabinet.

In the Lok Sabha polls, the BJP's history of clean sweeps in Rajasthan contrasted with only 14 against the total 25.

Out of these, Bhagirath Chaudhary is set to become a minister for the first time. Among the four MPs, two are from the OBC, one is Dalit, and one is from the general category. Bhupendra Yadav and Bhagirath Chaudhary belong to OBC, with Bhagirath being part of the Jat community. Arjun Ram Meghwal is a prominent Dalit figure from Rajasthan, and Gajendra Singh Shekhawat comes from the Rajput community.

Here are their brief profiles:

Gajendra Singh Shekhawat

He first entered the political arena in 1992 as an ABVP student leader. He entered active politics in 2014, contesting the Lok Sabha election from Jodhpur on a BJP ticket. Shekhawat defeated Congress' Jodhpur royal family member Chandresh Kumar by a margin of 410,000 votes.

In 2017, Shekhawat was appointed Union minister of state for agriculture. In 2019, he ran again from Jodhpur, this time defeating Vaibhav Gehlot, son of former Congress CM Ashok Gehlot. During his second term, Prime Minister Narendra Modi appointed him as the Cabinet Minister of the newly formed Jal Shakti Ministry.

Shekhawat won the Jodhpur Lok Sabha seat for the third consecutive time.

Arjun Ram Meghwal

A seasoned politician, Meghwal

has held positions as Union minister of state for finance and Union minister of water resources. He represents the Bikaner constituency and has been elected to the Lok Sabha since 2009.

In May 2023, Meghwal was assigned the Ministry of Law. As a prominent BJP member, he has served as the chief whip and minister of state for heavy industries and public enterprises. Meghwal first won the Bikaner Lok Sabha seat by a margin of 55,711 votes over his rival, Govind Ram Meghwal.

Bhupendra Yadav

He is recognized for his strong organizational skills. In the recent elections, the BJP fielded him from Alwar, replacing Baba Balaknath. In the previous Modi government, Yadav was appointed a cabinet minister while serving as a Rajya Sabha MP. He is considered close to both Modi and Shah and enjoys support from the Sangh.

Bhagirath Chaudhary

He entered the political scene in 2003, becoming an MLA for the first time. He was re-elected as an MLA in 2013 and served as chairman of the environment committee from 2015 to 2017. In the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, the BJP gave him a chance, and he contested against Riju Jhunjhunwala of the Congress, winning by a huge margin.

After rude shock in LS polls, BJP inducts 9 faces from UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AFTER suffering a rude shock in the recently concluded Lok Sabha election, the BJP — which ended up losing nearly half of the seats as compared to its 2019 tally of 62 in Uttar Pradesh — has inducted nine ministers, besides Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, from the state in Modi 3.0.

Others who were sworn in as ministers from UP included RLD chief Jayant Chaudhary, BJP's Pilibhit MP Jitin Prasad, Apna Dal (S) chief and Mirzapur MP Anupriya Patel, Gonda MP Kirti Vardhan Singh, Maharajganj MP Pankaj Chaudhary, Bansgaon MP Kamlesh Paswan, Agra MP SPS Baghel besides two Rajya Sabha members Hardeep Puri and BL Verma. Though the party lost 28 seats as compared to its 2019 tally, the state has got a lion's share in the cabinet of PM Modi who took oath for a third consecutive term on Sunday.

The poor show by the ruling NDA led the BJP to fall short of a majority on its own unlike the previous two terms. A doz-

According to political observers, trimming down the number of ministers inducted from UP might have an impact on caste equations in the state which witnessed a major shift of OBC and SC votes away from BJP to the Opposition in 2024 LS polls.

From UP, three upper castes, four OBC and two Dalit faces have found place in Modi cabinet 3.0. Third time Lucknow MP and former defence minister Rajnath Singh has once again been retained to infuse not only to add much-needed experience to the cabinet but also to placate Thakur community, the tempers of which ran high during the election believably costing dearly to the ruling party.

Interestingly, to pacify the Thakurs further, Gonda MP Kirtivardhan Singh has been inducted.

2 FROM ASSAM

3 from Northeast named, new face Pabitra Margherita a surprise pick in Modi 3.0

Kiren Rijiju

Sarbananda Sonowal

Pabitra Margherita

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THREE BJP leaders from the Northeast were inducted into Prime Minister Narendra Modi-led NDA government at the Centre on Sunday.

The three are Sarbananda Sonowal and Kiren Rijiju, both Cabinet ministers in the outgoing government, and Rajya Sabha member Pabitra Margherita, a new face. In 2019, four from the Northeast were inducted — Rameswar Teli (Assam) and Pratima Bhoumik (Tripura) being the two others.

Sonowal and Margherita are from Assam while Rijiju is from Arunachal Pradesh. The NDA had bagged 16 of the Northeast's 25 parliamentary seats with the BJP alone accounting for 13 — nine in Assam and two each in Arunachal and Tripura. The party rules the three states.

While the induction of seasoned politicians Sonowal, who is also a former chief minister, and Rijiju were on expected lines, Margherita was a surprise choice. His original name is Pabitra Gogoi. He uses the name of native town — Margherita in upper Assam's Tinsukia district — as his surname.

Margherita was a cultural activist before joining politics in 2014. He was elected as a Rajya Sabha member in 2022 and is also the political secretary to CM Himanta Biswa Sarma.

According to observers, by inducting Margherita into the ministry, the BJP is pitting an Ahom against another Ahom — three-time Lok Sabha member Gaurav Gogoi who was elected from Jorhat this election. Jorhat, Dibrugarh and a portion of Kaziranga constituencies make up upper Assam and with large number of Ahom voters.

Tokhan Sahu — from panchayat leader in '94 to minister in '24

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

IN yet another surprise to everyone including the political analysts in Chhattisgarh, predictable prominent names among the ten elected Lok Sabha members from the state were left aside, as PM Narendra Modi chose Tokhan Sahu, 54, while constituting his new cabinet team on Sunday. He took oath as minister of state in the union cabinet.

Belonging to Chhattisgarh's influential OBC Sahu community, he contested the parliamentary polls for the first time on a BJP ticket this year and defeated his nearest rival Congress candidate Devendra Yadav by a margin of 16,45,58 votes in Bilaspur Lok Sabha constituency. He began his political career by getting elected unopposed as a panchayat Sarajpura gram panchayat in 1994 and later in 2005 was janpad panchayat member in Lormi development block.

A post-graduate and resident of Mungeli about 110 km from Raipur, he earlier represented the Lormi assembly segment during the BJP government led by Raman Singh during 2013-18. He was then appointed as a parliamentary secretary. He was later denied a ticket twice for the state Assembly polls. BJP won ten out of eleven Lok Sabha seats in Chhattisgarh.

He is presently the state president of Kisan Morcha. His selection, showcasing a distinct working style, also came as a surprise to many BJP leaders.

Ajay Tamta, Dalit MP, will keep U'khand flag high in Delhi Durbar

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

AFTER a hat-trick of clean sweep in Lok Sabha polls in Uttarakhand, Ajay Tamta, a Dalit face and third-time MP from Almora, was picked as a minister in the Modi cabinet.

BJP spokesperson Anil Baluni, former CM Trivendra Singh Rawat and outgoing minister of state for defence Ajay Bhatt, who won with a record margin of 3.34 lakh votes, were contenders for a berth.

BJP leader Rajnath Singh had hinted at appointing Baluni as a minister during a public gathering in Gopeshwar. However, out of the five BJP MPs in the hill state, the BJP picked Tamta as a minister, bypassing upper castes.

According to BJP sources, the central leadership's feedback was that if an MP from Pauri or Haridwar is made a minister, there is a possibility of a new power centre emerging in the state and a new round of political instability within the BJP. Chief minister Pushkar Singh Dhami, close to PM Modi, is against such a possibility.

Amid such an apprehension, the party leadership went by Dhami's words and chose Tamta as a minister, the sources said. Congress state spokesperson Mohan Kala said, "The BJP will not desist from caste politics. Ajay Bhatt won with high votes and yet he was denied a berth, BJP doesn't know how to respect the mandate

WEST BENGAL

BJP chooses 2 MPs for Team Modi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

WITH the BJP bagging only 12 Lok Sabha seats as against 29 by its principal rival Trinamool Congress in West Bengal, the BJP appeared to have limited options to project the state at the Central level, given the fact that it had to accommodate its allies in the Modi cabinet. Sukanta Majumdar (Balurghat) and Shantanu Thakur (Banggaon) are the party candidates who have found place in the cabinet.

unit were again out in the open, with at least two prominent leaders criticising the state leadership in recent days.

The party's Bishnupur MP Saumitra Khan — he defeated his ex-wife and TMC candidate Sujata Mondal by 5,567 votes, the lowest among all 42 seats in the state — fired the first shot. "Had it not been for the efforts of the RSS and the central BJP leadership, we would not have won the number of seats which we won. We would have drawn a blank. There are no experienced leaders in the party who have experienced electoral success in their careers. The leaders also lack organisational knowledge," he said.

In such a situation, the BJP leadership's decision to induct two ministers appears to pacify forces within the state party.

Majumdar has been associated with the RSS since his teenage years. He was assigned to the Bengal BJP in 2014, marking his transition into active political involvement.

Strength & resilience — this single mother rose through the ranks

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

RAKSHA Khadse, BJP's three-time MP from the Raver Lok Sabha constituency in Maharashtra, was on Sunday sworn in as a minister of state in the Narendra Modi government.

The political journey of Khadse, marked by her personal strength and resilience, is inspiring. After losing her husband Nikhil Khadse in 2013, she started her political journey as a sarpanch of her village Kothadi and later as a member of the Jalgaon zila parishad.

Her early success in local politics led to her election as an MP in 2014 from Raver at the age of 26. She continued to win the seats three times.

Her photos with her two small children in her arms became social media hits, highlighting her ability to balance her personal life with her political responsibilities.

"Taking oath as a minister is a big thing for me if I look back at the condition in which I started my journey. My husband died when my son was only two and a half years old and my daughter was four years old. My personal life was full of pain, but the support and love of the people helped me forget these sorrows," she said.

Talking about her love for her work, she pointed out that she never put her all to be able to get posts.

"I never worked for any post and position. Today I am really happy that PM Narendra Modi honoured me by giving a ministerial position," said Khadse, daughter-in-law of Eknath Khadse, an NCP leader of the Sharad Pawar faction who has decided to switch

Reacting to Raksha's induction into the ministry, Eknath said, "My daughter-in-law becoming a union minister is the most joyful moment in my life. I am confident that Raksha's contribution will be big for the development of our region and Maharashtra. This is a very emotional moment for me."

EARLY POLL RESULTS SHOW EU ELECTING FAR RIGHT CANDIDATES TO PARL

BRUSSELS

THE first major estimates coming out of the European Union parliamentary elections on Sunday suggest that the hard right will rise in the legislature despite a series of scandals in Germany, the bloc's biggest nation. The exit poll in Germany indicated that the Alternative for Germany, or AfD, rose to 16.5% from 11% in 2019 beating the Social Democratic party of Chancellor Olaf Scholz, which fell to 14%.

The combined result for the three parties in the German governing coalition barely topped 30%, with the Greens taking heavy losses. The poll comes on the heels of major gains for the far right in the Netherlands, where the party of Geert Wilders is in a neck-and-neck race with a Socialist-Green alliance.

Even though polling will continue in Italy until late in the evening and many of the 27 member states have not yet released any projections, the indications confirmed what earlier surveys and analysts had predicted: the EU's massive exercise in democracy is expected to shift the bloc to the right and redirect its future.

The war in Ukraine, migration, and the impact of climate policy on farmers are some of the issues weighing on voters' minds as they cast ballots to elect 720 members of the European Parliament.

Surveys suggest that mainstream and pro-European parties will retain their majority in parliament, but they will lose seats to hard right parties like those led by Italian Premier Giorgia Meloni, Hungarian leader Viktor Orbán, Geert Wilders in the Netherlands and Marine Le Pen in France.

That would make it harder for Europe to pass legislation and could at times paralyse decision-making in the world's biggest trading bloc.

"I do hope that we will manage to avoid a shift to the right and that Europe will somehow remain united," voter Laura Simon said in Berlin.

EU lawmakers have a say in issues from financial rules to climate and agriculture policy. They approve the EU budget, which bankrolls priorities including infrastructure projects, farm subsidies and aid delivered to Ukraine. And they hold a veto over appointments to the powerful EU commission.

These elections come at a testing time for voter confidence in a bloc of some 450 million people. Over the last five years, the EU has been shaken by the coronavirus pandemic, an economic slump and an energy crisis fueled by the biggest land conflict in Europe since the Second World War. But political campaigning often focuses on issues of concern in individual countries rather than on broader European interests. Sunday's voting marathon winds up a four-day election cycle that began on Thursday. AP

Kyiv uses US weapons to halt Russia advance on Kharkiv, Jake says

PARIS/KYIV

US President Joe Biden's national security adviser said on Sunday that Russia's advance on Ukraine's Kharkiv "has stalled", after Washington partially lifted restrictions on using US-donated weapons to strike inside Russia.

"The momentum of that operation in Kharkiv has stalled out," Jake Sullivan told the CBS broadcaster.

"Kharkiv is still under threat but Russians have not been able to make material progress on the ground in recent days in that area." Washington has given the green light for Ukraine to use US weapons to defend its Kharkiv region, on the border with Russia, overcoming previous concerns that authorising such strikes could drag the NATO military alliance into a direct conflict with Russia.

"From the president's perspective, this was common sense," Sullivan said.

"It simply didn't make sense not to allow the Ukrainians to fire across that border, to hit Russian guns and emplacements that were firing at the Ukrainians."

Biden, who is on a visit to France, met Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky in Paris on Friday, reiterating his support for the war-torn country. Speaking on Saturday, Biden said Russian President Vladimir Putin would “not stop” at Ukraine.

"All of Europe will be threatened. We are not going to let that happen," Biden told journalists alongside French President Emmanuel Macron after talks at the Elysee Palace. Russian forces made their most significant territorial gains in 18 months during a major ground assault on the Kharkiv region last month, capturing several Ukrainian border villages and forcing thousands from their homes. Meanwhile, Ukraine said on Sunday it had hit an Su-57 fighter jet parked at an airfield in southern Russia, its first ever attack on Moscow's latest generation stealth aircraft. AFP

Bomb explosion kills 7 security men in Pakistan

PESHAWAR

A roadside bomb exploded near a security convoy in north-western Pakistan on Sunday, killing seven soldiers, including an army captain, the military said, a sign of a surge in militant attacks on security forces.

The latest attack happened in Lakki Marwat, a district in the Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province bordering Afghanistan, the military said.

No one claimed responsibility, but suspicion is likely to fall on the Pakistani Taliban, who have a strong presence in the region. The Pakistani Taliban, known as Tehrik-e-Taliban Pakistan, is a separate group that has been emboldened since the Afghan Taliban seized power in Afghanistan in 2021.

Pakistan has witnessed a surge in militant attacks in recent years, predominantly in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa. In January 2023 militants killed at least 101 people, mostly police officers, when a suicide bomber disguised as a policeman attacked a mosque in the northwestern city of Peshawar.

On Sunday, the counter-terrorism department of police in Peshawar issued a report, saying 65 police officials were killed while another 86 were wounded in 237 incidents of terrorism in the province in the past five months. It said police have killed 117 militants and arrested 299 others in a series of operations. Most of the attacks on security forces have been claimed by Islamic militants this year.

Pakistani authorities often say Afghanistan's Taliban rulers are giving shelter to TTP fighters across the unruly border. The Taliban government insists it doesn't allow anyone to use Afghan soil for violence in any country. TTP has said it was not using Afghan soil. AP

Investors can now buy and sell government bonds with ease

With the launch of the retail direct mobile app, investors can now buy G-Secs in the primary auctions as well as buy and sell the same in secondary market

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

NEARLY two-and-a-half years after launching a dedicated portal to facilitate retail investors (RBI Retail Direct) directly invest in government bonds or sovereign gold bonds during the issuance time or later through the secondary markets, as part of its financial inclusion initiatives, last week, the Reserve Bank has launched a mobile app for the same giving a further leg-up to the inclusion drive.

The RBI Retail Direct portal was launched on November 12, 2021, while the mobile app (Retail Direct Mobile app) was personally launched by the governor Shaktikanta Das on May 28, 2024 in the presence of some key central board members and all the four deputy governors along with heads of major banks and other stakeholders—only showing how serious the monetary authority is on this project.

What's Retail Direct?

The Retail Direct is a one-stop solution to facilitate investment primarily in government bonds by individual investors. It also allows one to trade in state government bonds, sovereign gold bonds and floating rate saving bonds as well. Under this scheme, individual retail investors can open gilt securities accounts—Retail Direct Gilt Account with RBI and participate in the primary issuance of government bonds, or invest in sovereign gold bonds or to invest in floating rate saving bonds. And not just that such an account opened with the RBI can also help you hold these assets with the most secured and guaranteed money manager that the RBI is.

The Retail Direct Scheme allows retail investors to buy G-Secs in the primary auctions as well as buy and sell G-Secs in the secondary market. With the launch of the retail direct mobile app, retail investors can now transact in G-Secs using the mobile app on their smartphones. The mobile app can be downloaded from the Play Store and App Store.

How has it fared since launch

The scheme has been a success, though not a runaway success,

Facilitating seamless investment

1,24,951

G-Secs are risk free and carry no credit risk and offer decent yields for longer duration up to

40 YEARS

The overall primary market subscriptions were worth ₹4,625.40 cr as of May 27, of which dated Central government bonds were worth partly because since the period it was introduced, the equity market and mutual funds were on a song. As of May 27, 2024, the total number of registrations stood at 1,38,819 while the total number of accounts opened stood at 1,24,951. The respective numbers stood at 69,536 and 56,714 as of October 22, 2022, which was exactly a year after the launch of the portal.

₹ 627.64 CR

From an asset class point of view, the overall primary market subscriptions were worth ₹4,625.40 crore as of May 27, of which dated Central government bonds were worth ₹627.64 crore (the G-Secs market is over ₹87 lakh crore), state government bonds were worth ₹372.29 crore, treasury bills ₹3,139.32 crore, sovereign gold bonds were worth ₹298.61 crore, floating rate savings bonds were at ₹187.54 crore.

The same respective numbers on October 22, 2022 were: primary market Gilt subscriptions at ₹681.82 crore, of which dated G-Secs at ₹233.86 crore, state government bonds at ₹103.97 crore, treasury bills were at ₹301.12 crore and sovereign gold bonds were at ₹42.87 crore.

The secondary market numbers are much lower with the overall traded volume at ₹690.74 crore as on May 27, of which dated G-Secs were ₹612.09 crore, state government bonds were ₹49.23 crore, treasury bills were at ₹28.41 crore, sovereign gold bonds were at a low ₹1.01 crore. During this period, the total holdings were ₹2,153.15 crore, of which dated G-Secs were ₹750.12 crore, state bonds were at ₹395.24 crore, treasury bills were at ₹820.25 crore, floating rate savings bonds were at ₹187.54 crore. The respective secondary market numbers for October 22, 2022 were: total traded volume ₹138.89 crore, of which dated G-Secs were ₹125.29 crore, state bonds at ₹11.25 crore, treasury bills at ₹2.34 crore, sovereign gold bonds stood at a minuscule ₹0.01 crore.

When it comes to total holdings, it was ₹670.67 crore, of which dated G-Secs stood at ₹286.53 crore, state bonds ₹113.87 crore, and treasury bills at ₹270.27 crore. The numbers clearly show the investors are more interested in the primary market and not the secondary market.

Why should one open a Retail Direct Gilt account?

Opening such an account allows an individual to buy government bonds directly in the primary market (auctions) as well as buy/sell in the secondary market. For the retail investor, government securities offer an option for assured long-term investment.

The advantages for retail investors are manifold: G-Secs are risk free and carry no credit risk and offer decent yields for longer duration, up to 40 years. G-Secs are an attractive option for savers who need low risk investment options for longer durations. G-Sec also offers capital gains as there is an inverse relationship between bond prices and interest rates, there is a high chance of capital gains when interest rates moderate.

G-Secs have good liquidity and they can be transacted without any notice. With the introduction of the portal, retail investors can now participate easily in the primary and secondary market. It also helps diversify portfolio and consequently reduce risk for retail investors. Moreover, the account attracts zero charges and does not involve any intermediary thus overall reducing transaction charges for the investor.

Who can open a RDG a/c?

Any retail investor is allowed to open an RDG account. The following are required to open an account: a rupee savings bank account maintained in the country, PAN, any officially valid document for KYC, a valid email id and a registered mobile number.

MONEY MATTERS

WHAT MODI 3.0 MEANS FOR YOUR MONEY

FINANCIAL KNOWLEDGE

RAJAS KELKAR

(The author is editor-in-chief at www.moneyminute.in)

THE surprise was not anticipated. In India's general election, held in seven phases over weeks, voters put all exit pollsters to shame. They gave a reduced mandate to the incumbent prime minister, Narendra Modi, but also gave up a leg to the opposition. The stock market reaction of a boom after the exit polls were announced and then a bust after the election results showed that trading in stocks and derivatives is not for the faint-hearted. Those who have been regular readers of this column would know that investing regularly over the long term is a relatively safer way towards wealth creation for most of you.

To become a successful trader, you need to know much more than most people on the street. It is tough to outperform others competing for the same share of trading profits. For example, institutional investors were seen buying shares on the day the exit poll data was revealed. They were selling on the day when election results sprung a surprise. That was absolute panic. That happened to a sophisticated bunch of institutional investors who are far more resourceful than you. It is learnt from the stock market data that high net worth investors managed to sell when share prices peaked on the exit polls day and buy back when share prices crashed on the election result day.

However, that is all part of the controversy that erupted with the opposition parties demanding an investigation. The Securities and Exchange Board of India may have to look for the trail of transactions and figure out if there was any foul play. Something similar happened in 2004 when election results surprised financial markets. As far as your money goes, political noises will settle down, and it will be time for everyone to return to work and business.

Your money

The present structure of the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) makes the government dependent on allies like the Telugu Desam Party and the Janata Dal-United. You can expect the government to jump-start programmes to help the people at the bottom of the pyramid. That could happen with the government's surplus cash following a significant dividend payout from the Reserve Bank of India. The election result could be construed as a backlash from people with low incomes for not doing enough for them.

That means the government would enhance subsidies and extend support to people experiencing poverty. At the same time, the government may have to curb ambitions in the infrastructure sector.

There are worries that the capital expenditure that drove India's growth in the aftermath of the pandemic could slow in Modi 3.0. While private investment slowed in the years after the COVID-19 pandemic, there are signs of a pickup. A study of the transcripts of analyst conference calls for the quarter ended March 2023 revealed signs of a pickup in the rural economy. While the urban markets continued to witness a surge in consumption, rural consumption was affected due to lower incomes and inflation. Major companies flagged that distress for several quarters. However, that is changing.

The key to your money is the outlook for interest rates. The Reserve Bank of India left interest rates unchanged after another monetary policy committee meeting. In the latest outlook for inflation, the RBI has highlighted climate change affecting the food output. Food inflation is the most significant risk ahead of the overall inflation basket. RBI has noted a sharp upturn in the prices of pulses and vegetables. There is also an increase in non-energy commodity prices that India imports.

The risk of inflation continues to remain elevated, according to the RBI. However, the dissent within the monetary policy is rising. Two committee members now called for a 0.25% rate cut to support economic growth. High interest rates are stalling businesses from borrowing more from the banks and expanding operations.

The next influencer on your money would be the Budget 2024, which will be presented in Parliament next month. The new government's agenda would be to calm the nerves in the industry and financial markets. However, political compulsions could induce higher social spending that could influence the future trajectory of interest rates.

LARGE CAP FUNDS MAY PROVIDE BETTER STABILITY

FINANCIAL ADVICE

funds have provided relatively better stability to the portfolio during volatile market conditions as compared to mid or small cap funds. Since its component, large-cap companies are relatively well-established and of reasonable size, are presumed to be safer. Conversely though, on the upside, it may not offer the same growth opportunities as compared to a small or mid-cap fund.

Since large-cap funds qualify as equity assets, any sale made within a year from the date of purchase is liable for Short Term Capital Gain (STCG) and attracts 15% tax. For any sale made after the investment has completed a year, Long Term Capital Gains (LTCG) tax is applicable at 10% on capital gains over ₹1 lakh.

Those investing in large cap funds must do so knowing that the underlying asset is equity with all its attendant risks. Yet, investing in large-cap funds is often used as a core long-term investment strategy as it is perceived to be less risky than mid-cap, small-cap, multi-cap and flexi-cap funds.

Yet, it would be prudent to note that it is less risky only when compared to small cap and mid-cap mutual funds. No equity investment is completely risk-free. Also, since risk & returns are directly related, the returns too are lesser when compared to small-cap and mid-cap funds in a market that is trending upwards.

It is thus a natural corollary that since it is a pure equity fund, the investment should ideally be for a long period to generate better returns.

While there may be select periods where the near-term returns are superior to the long-term returns, more often than not, and particularly since the underlying asset is equity, the long-term returns of a large cap fund outscore its near-term returns.

In next fortnight's column, we shall turn the spotlight on some of the large cap funds, their holdings and their investments.

Go First crisis: Wadia's Thane land up for auction

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

CENTRAL Bank of India, the lead banker in the consortium of lenders of the bankrupt airline Go First (formerly GoAir), has put on block the 94.7-acre land parcel owned by Wadia Realty in Thane to recover their dues from the Wadias through an auction scheduled for July 22 and has set ₹1,965 crore as the reserve price.

The other lenders in the consortium include Bank of Baroda, IDBI Bank and Dena Bank. The airline owes ₹3,918 crore to these four banks and Central Bank has the maximum claim of ₹1,934 crore, followed by Bank of Baroda (₹1,744 crore) and Dena Bank (₹75 crore), the amounts include principal and interest as of August 31, 2023. The dues of IDBI Bank is not known.

And at ₹1,965 crore as the reserve price, the banks may be able to recover 50%, which is not bad given that this is far higher than IBC recoveries and also liquidation from which they may get nearly nothing.

A Central Bank official told TNE that the lenders have decided to auction the Thane land parcel as this land bank is part of the corporate guarantee extended by the group company Wadia Realty. When pointed out that since separate recovery measures are not allowed under the IBC, how the auction can proceed, he said the legal opinion is favourable to us.

In November, the airline's resolution professional told the Mumbai NCLT that only 19% or ₹6,604 crore of the ₹28,558 crore of claims from 8,019 creditors were admitted. This included ₹5,639 crore of claims from financial creditors/lenders, of which 68% were admitted, and the remaining was under verification. The claims from operational creditors stood at ₹19,701 crore, of which a paltry 4% were admitted.

New central excise bill may lead to reduction in compliance burden

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE new central excise bill 2024, proposed by the central government, aims to streamline the excise law by incorporating the CENVAT Credit provisions, which were previously governed by a separate delegated legislation.

Further, the Bill intends to borrow the concept of 'related persons' from Customs and GST Laws. It will do away with the outdated provisions, incorporate the relevant regulations in the Act itself and align excise law with the GST and Customs framework for ensuring a more cohesive indirect tax system.

"The Bill may lead to a reduction in compliance burden, and provide a comprehensive legal framework better suited to the current economic landscape. While the Bill is a positive step towards modernisation, the assesses must avail the opportunity to get their concerns addressed by providing inputs to the CBIC by June 26th," Rachit Jain, Partner at Lakshmikumaran & Sridharan Attorneys said. The Central Board of Indirect Taxes & Customs (CBIC), under the Department of Revenue, Ministry of Finance, is seeking feedback on the draft 'Central Excise Bill, 2024' from stakeholders until June 26, 2024.

The CBIC has formulated the draft 'Central Excise Bill, 2024' to replace the outdated Central Excise Act, 1944. This new bill aims to establish a modern central excise law that focuses on facilitating business operations and eliminating obsolete provisions. The bill consists of twelve chapters, 114 sections, and two schedules.

According to Mahesh Jaising, Partner, Deloitte India, the Central Excise Bill, 2024 represents a significant step towards modernising India's tax framework to align with the current economic environment and GST legislation. "The timing of the draft release and the deadline for comments suggest that the Bill might be introduced in the upcoming budget session," Jaising said.

India Inc expects bolder reforms from new govt

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA Inc expects "bolder reforms" and measures to foster economic development as Narendra Modi took oath for the third consecutive term as PM on Sunday.

"Congratulations to Narendra Modi ji for becoming the Prime Minister for the third time. Hope the new term will prove to be important for the development and prosperity of India," Mahindra Group Chairman Anand Mahindra said in a post on X.

FICCI President Anish Shah said the third consecutive term for the NDA paves the way for continuity in the reform agenda.

"We look forward to progressive policies and measures that will foster economic and social development and build a strong foundation for 'Viksit Bharat'," Shah said. "With your taking oath as the Prime Minister for the third term India Inc is feeling confident that leadership of the country will be steered to greater heights, maintaining the fastest pace of growth amongst the major economies of the world," ASSOCHAM Secretary General Deepak Sood said in his congratulatory message to PM Modi.

Sanjeev Krishan, Chairperson, PwC in India, said the incoming government should shoulder the task of shaping the economic and social destiny of the world's most populous and young democracy.

Meanwhile, the commerce and industry ministry may seek more funds for start-ups in the forthcoming Budget. The seed fund scheme, announced in April 2021 with a corpus of ₹945 crore, will end in 2025, and the ministry may consider proposing a new scheme on similar lines. There are over 1.17 lakh government-registered startups in the country.

The Indian women's hockey team lost 2-3 to Great Britain in their FIH Pro League match in London on Sunday, extending their run of losses to eight matches. India played well for the majority of the match before Grace Baldson's (56' and 58') quick-fire brace snatched victory. The men's team also lost by identical margin against Great Britain.

Pacers steal win for India

In a choke for ages, Pakistan manage to lose against India by 6 runs from a winning position

GOMESH S @Chennai

IT was the 14th over of the chase at the Nassau County Cricket Stadium. After dismissing India for 119, Pakistan had more or less cantered to 80/3. Mohammad Rizwan was there in the middle, batting on 31 from 43 balls. It was his job to hold one end while others were tasked with chasing down a run-a-ball target on a sluggish surface. Not just Rizwan, even Pakistan had done everything right up until that point.

Babar Azam won the toss and opted to field. Despite two rain interruptions, Pakistan pacers made early inroads. First, Naseem Shah got rid of Virat Kohli, who tried to hit a short delivery that held a little only to find the point fielder. India captain Rohit Sharma, who hit Shaheen Shah Afridi for a six in the first over, tried to repeat it in the third, but the ball held a little, leaving the India captain's weight on the front foot. The result? An easy catch at square leg. Two early wickets and Pakistan were on top. At least for a brief while. India had promoted Axar Patel to plug the collapse but at the same time to keep the intent going. Axar was at the non-striker's end as Pant was getting ready to take on Mohammed Amir in his second over. If there was a moment to double down, this was it.

First ball from Amir, an edge that flew past the slip fielder to the boundary. Second ball, Pant tried to whip the pacer, another leading edge, this time ball flew over the off-side. Third ball, an inside edge, which almost hit the stumps. Two balls later, another outside edge off Pant which flew for four. An over where Amir could have had three wickets at least, he ended up going for 12 runs. At the end of the powerplay, the Men In Blue had 50 on the board. That over from Amir, in essence, summed up the kind of tricks the pitch was playing. It was going to be a contest of application between India and Pakistan. Axar, Shivam Dube, Rishabh Pant, Suryakumar Yadav and Hardik Pandya followed a pattern—they tried to take on Pakistan pacers, who were making the most of the conditions. Their bowlers were making all the play and promptly kept picking up wickets. India were dismissed for 119 in 19 overs.

All Pakistan now had to do was not repeat the mistakes of India while ensuring that they do not go into a shell. And that is what Rizwan had tried to do.

Rizwan had negated Jasprit Bumrah early on, even picking up occasional boundaries apart from running well between the wickets. The others, however, had been coming and going. Azam fell to a sharp catch at slips off Bumrah, Usman Khan to an arm ball from Axar Patel and Zaman jumping down the track, trying to take on Hardik Pandya. It was down to Rizwan to take Pakistan home.

But there was one problem. Bumrah. He was always going to be the biggest threat. Both of them have been here before. In Ahmedabad. That time, Bumrah had the last laugh. And once again, Rizwan was up against Bumrah in his third over. Bumrah ran in, delivered a full delivery that pitched on line with off-stump, held its line, cutting Rizwan, who was trying to swipe across. It disturbed the stumps. Big wicket in the bag. India back in the game.

Now, it was a matter of mind and holding their nerves. Axar and Pandya did just that as Shadab Khan fell. Panic started to creep in. Imad struggled to put bat on ball and so did Iftikhar Ahmed. So much so that they were missing full tosses and half-volleys. The equation became 21 runs from 12 balls. And Bumrah came back to get rid of Iftikhar. Arshdeep followed him by removing Imad and that was that. Done and dusted. Despite doing everything right and being in control of the proceeding, Pakistan once again found themselves at the wrong side of the result.

Brief scores: India 119 in 19 ovs (Pant 42; Naseem 3/21) bt Pakistan 113/7 in 20 ovs (Rizwan 31; Bumrah 3/14).

HOW IT ALL HAPPENED?

From 80/3, Pak slumped to 113/7 in the last six overs...

15th over, Bumrah: 3/1
16th over, Axar: 2/0
17th over, Hardik: 5/1
18th over, Siraj: 9/0
19th over, Bumrah: 3/1

T20 WC ROUND-UP

Australia nail England by 36 runs

BRIDGETOWN (BARBADOS): Defending champions England charged at Australia's tournament-best 201 total and came up 36 runs short in a one-sided contest on Saturday. Forced to bat first, Australia made a brutal start thanks to their openers, David Warner and Travis Head—70-0 in 4.5 overs—but were pulled back and posted 201-7. That was the highest total in a week-old tournament featuring tricky pitches. Tasked with making the third-biggest successful run chase in tournament history, England took a swipe but decayed to 165-6. Adam Zampa and Pat Cummins took two cheap wickets each. BRIEF SCORES: Australia 201/7 in 20 ovs (Warner 39, Marsh 35) bt England 165/6 in 20 ovs (Buttler 42, Salt 37; Cummins 2/23, Zampa 2/28).

West Indies crush Uganda by 134 runs

PROVIDENCE (GUYANA): West Indies thrashed newcomers Uganda by 134 runs in their Group C match here with left-arm spinner Akeal Hosein returning a five-wicket haul here. West Indies, making use of the familiarity with the home conditions and vital contributions from their batters, especially Johnson Charles (44) and Andre Russell (30 not out), put up an impressive 173 for five on the board. In reply, Uganda could only make 39 runs in 12 overs, with Akeal making it a completely one-sided contest for the two-time T20 world champions, ripping apart the rival top and middle-order. BRIEF SCORES: West Indies: 173/5 in 20 ovs (Charles 44, Pooran 22, Powell 23, Rutherford 22, Russell 30 n.o.; Masaba 2/31) bt Uganda 39 in 12 ovs (Hosein 5/11).

Honda riders fight but miss out on pts in ARRC

MOTEGI (JAPAN): IDEMITSU Honda Racing India team's Kavin Quintal and Mohsin Paramban put up a spirited fight in Race 2 of the third round of the 2024 FIM Asia Road Racing Championship on Sunday but they were unable to fetch any points. Kavin, who had secured two points in Race 1, pushed hard but was forced to leave the track in the sixth lap. Mohsin, meanwhile, finished 17th.

Atiqa second runner-up in natl karting meet

BENGALURU: Atiqa Mir secured a second runner-up finish in the MECO FMSCI Rotax National Karting Championship here. The nine-year-old from Kashmir, representing Team Sport, achieved the same in the final race of Round 1 in the Micro Max Class, with a timing of 12:21.397. Chennai's Rivaan Preetham (12:16.790) and Rehan Khan (12:19.920), also from Team Sport, took the top-2 positions.

TALKING POINTS

SOUTH AFRICA CAN TAKE A HUGE STEP TOWARDS QUALIFYING. LIKEWISE, BANGLADESH CAN ALSO DO SOMETHING SIMILAR WITH A WIN. A LOOK AT KEY WORLD CUP CLASH...

South Africa's top-order

Some of the blame lies on the pitch but that can only be part mitigation for what their top-order has done so far. 4/58 and 4/12 in their two matches so far speaks volumes about their work—or lack thereof—in the two games. The worrying aspect is that the likes of Quinton de Kock and Aiden Markram haven't been able to buy a run in more than a month.

Proteas' pacers

They have gone pace heavy on helpful surfaces and have been rewarded handsomely. Marco Jansen, Kagiso Rabada, Anrich Nortje and Ottneil Baartman have together picked up 15 wickets while conceding just 129 runs. They will look to do something similar on Monday.

Watch out for spinner Rishad

Taskin Ahmed and Mustafizur Rahman broke Sri Lanka's top-order but it was the spin of Rishad Hossain that broke through the spine. If they can follow that win over Sri Lanka by beating South Africa, they become favourites to qualify.

In-form Nagal wins Heilbronn Challenger

CHENNAI: Sumit Nagal continued a fine year by winning the Heilbronn Challenger on Sunday. He outlasted Alexander Ritschard 6-1, 6-7(5), 6-3. Nagal, who recently broke into the top-100 for the first time, is assured of a new career-high of 77. While he lost in the first round of the French Open, he did have a creditable Monte Carlo Masters, where he advanced to the second round via the qualifiers.

Gurpreet to lead India in key meeting vs Qatar

AGENCIES @ Doha

INDIA'S first-choice goalkeeper Gurpreet Singh Sandhu was on Sunday named the captain of the team for the must-win 2026 FIFA World Cup qualifying match against Qatar here.

India will play hosts Qatar in the return fixture at Jassim bin Hamad Stadium on Tuesday.

The India senior men's team landed in Doha on Saturday night for the match in which a win could pave the way for a maiden entry into the third round of World Cup qualifiers.

Head coach Igor Stimac had named a 23-member squad for the fixture. Apart from Sunil Chhetri, who retired after his last game for the country against Kuwait on Thursday, defenders Amey Ranawade, Lachungnunga and Subhasish Bose did not travel to Qatar.

Bose was released on his request because of personal reasons. About Ranawade and Lachungnunga, Stimac said, "I was happy to have both of them with us. We worked on various aspects of their game for the future. We had a nice talk before we released them and they know which parts of their game they need to grow for the upcoming season."

"I hope both of them will use the time ahead to improve and come back stronger."

As far as the captain's armband is concerned, Stimac mentioned that it was a no-brainer to hand it to Gurpreet.

"Gurpreet was one of our captains alongside Sunil and Sandesh (Jhingan) for the past five years, so naturally he is the one to take responsibility at this moment," said Stimac.

India's next opponents Qatar, who have already qualified for the third round as group-toppers, have named a largely young squad.

Indonesia Open: Shi and Chen claim top prize

BADMINTON World No 2 Shi Yu Qi clinched his first Indonesia Open title on Sunday after beating Danish shuttler Anders Antonsen in three games. The Chinese ace eventually overcame the World No 5, winning 21-9, 12-21, 21-14 in a 71-minute final to secure the Super 1000 event. Shi won the first game with relative ease before the Danish shuttler fought back to take the match to a third game.

The 28-year-old was delighted to be the first Chinese men's singles player to win the tournament since the 1980s before setting his sights on Olympic gold in Paris next month. "I am very happy to have won today. This proves that the efforts of the Chinese men's singles team are very strong right now," he said after his victory.

In the women's singles final, Olympic women's badminton champion and Chinese star Chen Yu Fei beat South Korea's An Se-young in a three-game thriller. World No 2 Chen topped World No 1 An 21-14, 14-21, 21-18. "In this match, I didn't focus too much on the outcome but prioritised the process. That was the key to my victory this time," Chen said via an interpreter after her win.

PURSUING AN ACCOUNTING CAREER ABROAD

What pathways exist for Indian CAs to establish their practice abroad? What avenues does the ICAI provide to them? Which countries offer Indian CAs lucrative opportunities? Karthikeya S goes into depths to explore the answers to these questions...

WHILE Chartered Accountancy (CA) is considered a lucrative and respectable career choice in India, Indian CAs are also in great demand abroad. Countries like the United Arab Emirates (UAE), Singapore, Oman, Qatar, Australia, the United Kingdom (UK) and the United States of America (USA or US) seek to employ CAs from India, due to their rigorous training, expertise in accounting standards, and proficiency in financial management. On the other hand, CAs and CA aspirants from India also seek to pursue their practice abroad and gain international qualifications to get better global recognition, economic and career prospects, diverse work experience, and build a global professional network. It has become possible for Indian CAs and CA aspirants to work and practice abroad, due to an improved education system and training methodologies in India and international and trans-governmental partnerships with accounting organisations.

INDIAN CHARTERED ACCOUNTANCY ASSOCIATION (ICAI)
The ICAI has Mutual Recognition Agreements (MRAs) and Memoranda of Understanding (MoUs) with international accounting bodies, allowing Indian CAs to gain recognition in Canada, Wales, Ireland, South Africa, Australia, and Malaysia. A few countries, such as Kuwait, Qatar, Azerbaijan, Netherlands, Tanzania and Saudi Arabia have bilateral agreements with the ICAI

INTERNATIONAL QUALIFICATIONS AND REGULATORY BODIES
To establish careers abroad, CAs can pursue equivalent qualifications in specific countries to be eligible to practice in them. They can also become members of the country's regulatory body governing the practice of accountancy. For example, gaining an Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) qualification makes you eligible to practice in about 180 countries

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS
International institutions offer CA programmes or qualifications, providing an alternative route to gaining a recognised qualification abroad. These courses include Master of Professional Accounting, Lincoln University, New Zealand; CAs Australia & New Zealand-accredited Accounting major from Edith Cowan University, Australia; & ACCA-accredited courses by Bangor University

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES
Working with multinational accounting and auditing firms can provide opportunities for training and experience in different countries. For example, CAs who began their careers in one of the Big 4 – Deloitte, KPMG, PwC, and EY – find their services in great demand in countries like Dubai

AS SKINNY JEANS FADE IN THE FASHION SCENE, NEW STYLES LIKE KAREENA KAPOOR KHAN'S WIDE-LEG DENIM PANTS AND SALMAN KHAN'S ANIME-THEMED PAIR OF WHITE JEANS ARE THE GO-TO LOOK THIS SEASON

POOJA DAS

HILE the skin-fit jeans of the past decade were considered a style statement, jeans in particular were never tagged as comfort wear. But with people in a pandemic-ridden world looking for comfort in every corner of their confined homes, denim could not have been left far behind. "During Covid, baggy pants came into existence because they were more comfortable and relaxed. Gen Z especially started opting for the baggier silhouette, also known as utility jeans or sweatpants jeans," says Bengaluru-based fashion stylist and designer Meghana M.

The appeal of baggy denim lies in its combination of comfort and versatility. Unlike skinny jeans, baggy jeans provide freedom of movement, making them ideal for various activities and occasions. Recently, actors like Jennifer Lopez and Kareena Kapoor Khan were spotted in denim that look and feel more like sweatpants. Meghana explains that the utilitarian aspect, with features like oversized pockets, adds a practical edge that resonates with today's youth. "It can be styled in various ways - with a lot of oversized T-shirts, crop tops, sweatshirts, with a pair of shoes probably, and a nice motorbike jacket and a cap," says Murali, who believes that the trend is here to stay for at least another decade or so with many brands innovating in the space like Kamal Haasan's KH House of Khaddar creating their unique weave of denim and khadi.

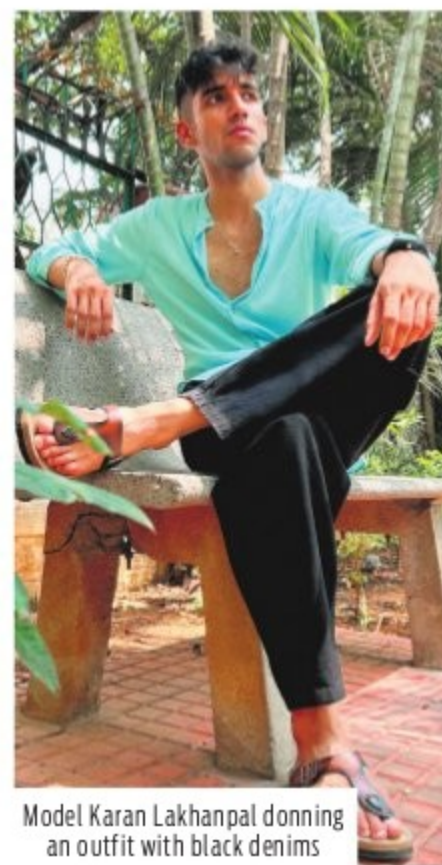

The baggier the better

Not only Gen Zs but personal stylist Jaya Kumari finds that millennials have also opted for comfortable silhouettes, discarding skin fits. "When it comes to Gen Z, they are going for ultra-wide fits but millennials are going for wide fits only. Earlier when people were into skinny fit, jeans were not really seen as a piece you can wear for comfort but now with the baggier fits becoming more popular, people are wearing them even when they are going for a walk with their dogs," shares Kumari.

Men, for whom denim is considered a staple, have also seen a drastic shift in styling when it comes to denim. While the classic vibe remains timeless, the flavour of the season exudes punk and streetwear with actors like Salman Khan sporting edgy anime-themed pants on the opening of Heeramandi. Meghana adds, "In men's streetwear, a lot of additional elements have been introduced like embellishments and studs as well as stickers of K-dramas and anime shows. If one needs a more feminine touch, then rhinestones can be embellished on it or some surface ornamentation like embroidery."

Even different washes other than blue are gaining popularity. Karan Lakhanpal, a fashion model and influencer, observes, "I have jeans in grey, black and blue colours. People have started wearing baggier fits, and I have also been following this trend. People have moved away from skinny jeans, especially in menswear, there are a lot of styling videos on social media where they show the contrast between them wearing skinny jeans in 2023 and now how the same outfit looks with baggy jeans."

When it comes to styling these fits, Meghana says, "If we are going for a casual look, we can go with pants with a lot of pockets and a loose fit. But at the same time, if I'm looking for street wear - probably it might be a little more funky with a lot of chains. If at all I want to wear it for a party, the same baggy trousers with a nice fitted crop top and block heels will work. For me, if I am going to a party, I will reduce the bagginess of my trousers a little for a sleeker look." Lakhanpal further adds, "In formal situations, opt for relaxed fit jeans with a good fitted blazer and white shirt."

For those who want to style oversized tees with baggy denim fits, Kumari advises, "If we are talking about wider jeans, then it's best to stick with slim fit or regular fit on the top so it balances the outfit. But you can also wear a baggy t-shirt with baggy jeans if you add some more edge to it like with a belt, tucking it a little bit on the side of the waist while the rest remains free. That way you can have some sharpness to the outfit and balance it out."

Environmentalist Harsha Tej, who was recently accompanied by actor-director Raj B Shetty to create awareness on rainwater harvesting, speaks on his efforts to rejuvenate lakes and the need for community engagement to manage water crisis

SHOULDN'T World Environment Day be celebrated every day?," wonders environmentalist Harsha Tej in one of his posts on social media as the world celebrated the day last week. But as is the nature of human societies, something only hits hard when it hits home. Just a few weeks ago, Bengaluru had almost come to its knees praying for a drop of rain; a sigh of relief from the unrelenting heat wave with temperatures touching 40 degrees Celsius in some areas. But as rains graced the city and flooded our streets, one has to remember that while rains come every year so does the water shortage. Why? Because once known as the city of lakes, Bengaluru has devolved into a concrete jungle where the rain has nowhere to go. Trying to tackle this cycle of continuous struggle with water is Tej, also known as @muddyfingers, who is working on rejuvenating lakes around the city and was recently joined by the veteran actor-director Raj B Shetty in his efforts to make the city water positive. "Because of a lot of siltation and sewage entering the waters, the water-holding capacity has fully reduced and the water quality has gone bad in many lakes. So, we do a detailed study, a feasibility survey and then see if the lake needs any restoration work," says Tej, who left his corporate job to start his foundation five years ago.

Accompanied by co-director Gurunandan Rao, Tej is currently working on 12-15 projects in and around the city, including the Sarjapur area, Airport Road, and more. "One of the lakes that has been successfully rejuvenated is Hunsamaranahalli Lake on Airport Road. There are maybe four or five people in Bengaluru who actually do what we're doing, and we need more people," shares Tej. Coming from an agricultural background, Tej always felt rooted in the soil. "There are not many people to help another voiceless animal, or a bird, or the environment, which is screaming for help. So, from a very young age, both Gurunandan and I have been inclined towards the environment. We understand the soil and how water works," he says, adding, "We have hardly scratched the surface."

Digging IN

The team employs techniques such as photogrammetry surveys, planting native trees around the body and desilting to remove excess silt, thereby increasing water retention capabilities. Moreover, the foundation designs wetlands at lake inlets to ensure that only clean water enters the lakes, addressing the significant challenge of sewage contamination. "Usually during the monsoon, the water comes into the lake and during the summer, it immediately evaporates because there's no water-holding capacity. We remove this silt to the natural level and allow the water to come in. And when the water comes in, it will do its best to hold water in the summer," says Tej. The task is monumental and not without its challenges. Restoration efforts take anywhere from three months to a year, depending on the lake's size, followed by three years of monitoring to ensure sustainability. "It's a continuous process of learning to deal with certain challenges and we will eventually figure out a solution," he reflects.

Tej emphasises the critical role of the community in addressing water issues, advocating for the widespread adoption of rainwater harvesting. "The crisis keeps happening because there is no groundwater. When it rains, the rain just runs off and it's not going into the ground. There is no soil exposed. So what we can all do is have rainwater harvesting pits inside the house, anywhere that costs between ₹25,000 to a lakh depending on the size of the pit. If everybody in Bengaluru can do this, we will be water-positive within two to three years," claims Tej.

My 3-year-old dog is getting sunburned during walks, especially in areas with less hair and pigment, like the nose, ears, and belly. What should I do?

I am very glad that you have asked such an important question at a time when we see people opting to get their pets sheared or taking them out for a walk at an hour when the sun is a scorcher, with heat radiating from the ground, and being made to walk on a bitumen-laden road. First and foremost, shearing your pet's hair or getting his hair trimmed is extremely harmful and makes them prone to heat stroke or heat stress. My advice for your problem is to avoid taking him or her out while the sun is out. His morning walk should be before sunrise, and his evening walk should be one hour after sunset. Avoid taking the dog out in the afternoon. If he continues to suffer from sunburns, use paw butter, vitamin E oil, or cold towels on acute burn areas to comfort him.

FITBIT

PHALAKASANA HASTA BLOCKS (PLANK POSE HANDS BLOCKS)

In Sanskrit, 'phalaka' means plank or board, and 'asana' means pose. This is a beginner-level yoga pose that is performed in prone, toe, and arm-balanced positions. It involves strength, stretching, and balance. Holding plank poses improves endurance and muscle tone, help develop the strength needed for complex poses, generate heat, and stimulate the Manipura (navel) chakra.

STEPS

- Place two yoga blocks at the end of the mat. Decide its height depending on your flexibility and comfort.
- Get into Adho Mukha Svanasana (Downward Facing Dog Pose).
- Bring your arms forward and reach for the yoga blocks one by one.
- Shift your torso forward, parallel with the ground. Align the shoulders over the wrists, with the arms kept perpendicular to the floor.
- Press your hands firmly into the block. Draw the outer arms in as you firm and broaden your shoulder blades.
- Bring the chest forward with the heels extended behind.
- Engage your legs and core to support the weight of your pelvis.
- Look down and hold the pose while slowly breathing for up to 60 seconds, or as per your comfort.
- Inhale, slowly lower your upper body and remove the blocks, and come back to Adho Mukha Svanasana.
- Finally, release and relax in Makarasana while breathing normally.
- You can also practise the pose for one or two more times at your convenience.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens legs, wrists, forearms, biceps, triceps, and posterior chain (back muscles, buttocks, hamstrings).
- Helps to correct the posture.
- Helps create stability in the shoulder joints and arms.
- Tones abdomen (obliques, transverse abdominis, rectus abdominis) and hips.
- Builds strength in the neck.
- Can help relieve sciatica discomfort.
- Aids in developing core strength and overall balance and stability.
- It strengthens scapula (shoulder blade) stabilisers, particularly the serratus anterior.
- It helps increase tapas in practice and life.

LIMITATIONS

- If you easily hyperextend your knees, extra care should be taken to engage your hamstrings to protect your knees.
- Students who have carpal tunnel syndrome, shoulder, leg, or wrist injuries should avoid this pose. In this case, a Forearm Plank is a good alternative.
- If you have high or low blood pressure, you must avoid this pose.

MGnificent!

Not only does the MG ZS EV deliver on its promise of being a capable electric vehicle, it also adds a touch of luxury and modern technology

LEKSHMI C PILLAI

TRAVELLING along a coastal city rich in French colonial memories in a car with British lineage was what MG Motor India organised recently for a group of women auto-vloggers. The Bengaluru-Puducherry round trip, totalling 650 km in three days, aimed to debunk many myths about electric cars.

The ZS EV, MG's prestigious product in the Indian market, was the car of choice. We started from Bengaluru and drove 325km to Puducherry on a single charge, showcasing its impressive true range and alleviating any 'range anxiety' – the new concern of EV owners.

The car

The ZS EV is not a typical boxy SUV; its unique design language sets it apart. Dynamic lines, grille design, alloy design, and full LED hawk-eye headlamps are very attractive.

The plush interiors of the car tell a premium story too. The dark grey theme, 25.7cm HD touchscreen infotainment, full digital cluster with a 17.78cm LCD screen, dual-pane panoramic sky roof, air filter, and leather-wrapped steering wheel ensure satisfaction. MG has always been known for its connectivity features, and the ZS EV offers 75+ connected car features. However, there is no option for ventilated seats in this premium EV.

The motor

The ZS EV delivers 176ps power and 280Nm torque. The company claims 0-100 km/h in just 8.5 seconds; but on the unfamiliar highway, I could not perform such a test, though three-digit speeds were easily attained during driving.

Drive modes

The MG ZS EV offers various driving modes, each tailored to different needs:

■ Normal Mode: Ideal for everyday driving, balancing performance and efficiency for a smooth ride during city commutes and highway cruising.

■ Eco Mode: Maximises energy efficiency by adjusting throttle response and other vehicle settings to conserve battery power, perfect for extending range during longer journeys.

■ Sport Mode: Enhances acceleration and responsiveness for a spirited driving experience with increased power output.

I experienced all these modes and feel the differences. The ZS EV also features regenerative braking, enhancing efficiency and range, with adjustable strength for regenerative braking, steering feel and climate control preferences.

ADAS Level-2

Another useful tech suite is the Advanced Driver Assistance System (ADAS) Level 2, with 17 features including Adaptive Cruise Control, Bend Cruise Assistance, Traffic Jam Assist, Lane Departure Warning, Lane Keep Assist, Front Collision Warning, Automatic Emergency Braking, Headlamp Control, and Speed Warning Mode.

Lane Departure Warning and Lane Keep Assist were very useful on the highway. The multi-purpose camera identifies lane markings, warns if the vehicle deviates, and can actively keep the vehicle centred by controlling the steering. Intelligent Headlamp Control adjusts the high beam based on oncoming traffic and environment. The car alerts about probable collisions with vehicles or pedestrians and applies autonomous deceleration if the driver doesn't act.

VERDICT

With a decent range (350-360km), high build quality, and a long list of safety features, the MG ZS EV is suitable for both highways and cities. It offers a fun drive and is, without doubt, a standout choice for those looking for an electric SUV boosting, and stable even at high speeds, with minimal body roll. The seats are comfortable for long drives, and the build quality of the car is impressive.

Battery

The 50.3 kWh prismatic cell battery powers the ZS EV, with a claimed range of 461 km. The battery pack is rated IP69K. The users can charge the vehicles at MG dealerships with DC super-fast chargers. They can charge up to 80 per cent in 60 minutes. AC fast chargers can charge it 100 per cent in 8.5-9 hours. The portable charging cable can charge the car 100 per cent in 18-19 hours when plugged into any 15A socket.

Price

The MG ZS EV is available in four variants, priced from ₹18.98 lakh to ₹25.20 lakh. As part of its 100th year, MG launched the '100-Year Limited Edition' with a special Evergreen colour, inspired by the British Racing Green, available in the Exclusive Plus variant for ₹24.18 lakh.

Entering the depths of the Animal Well

ARE YOU GAME?

Anusha Ganapathi

(This economics graduate spends her leisure time preparing for the zombie apocalypse)

AT times, I worry the gaming industry is no longer interested in the casual gamer. Those of us who only get a couple of hours over a weekend, or after a busy work day. The industry, largely still dominated by AAA titles, increasingly needs us to sit through 100s of hours of soul crushing antagonism from strangers online, with lightning reflexes and infinite time to grind. And even then, there is only a slim possibility I eventually get good and an even slimmer possibility that I enjoy myself. So it's incredibly refreshing when I find a title like Animal Well, a puzzle-forward metroidvania hybrid, which is thoughtfully designed and incredibly absorbing, but most importantly unimposing and accessible to those of us with busy work weeks.

The title spells it all out pretty clearly. We are in a well and all around us are many animals. Our mission, should we choose to accept it, is to navigate the labyrinth of interconnected rooms, solving environmental puzzles along the way. And since we are merely a tiny blob, born from a peaceful flower, we cannot engage in any combat.

Navigating through the many rooms in the well, I find myself immediately drawn to the little mysteries. A high ledge with a door, but with no way to reach it. A barrier between you and the exit but no obvious way to cross it. And the charm is that with so few obviously sign-posted clues, I really have to rely on my wits to solve them. Early in the game, one such room needed me to steal a little disk, guarded by the imposing statue of a cat. When stolen, a giant apparition of said cat chases me across the room, determined to eat me as retribution for this blasphemous theft. The cat is faster than me. I cannot beat it. Time goes by and there is no solution. Much later, as I take a different route through the map, I happen across another disc. It does nothing and its use isn't clear. And then it hit me – I needed to pull the old switcheroo on the guardian cat.

Moments like this are truly satisfying. The little bolt of pride that hits you when to solve something. There are no tutorials or invisible barriers to stop me from accessing new parts of the map. It's just more of these mysteries. These bizarre items hidden in the corners of the map are very well-concealed, that it gives my little brain the jolt of pride when I do find it out, all by myself. Unlike any usual combat-based Metroidvania game, there is also really no suggested or optimal path to find the required upgrades. I am therefore doubly encouraged to explore the map – to take risks, find the fullest limits of my existing powers, till I hit a resolute dead end.

Billy Basso, Animal Well's sole developer, says that his game is pre-loaded with enough little secrets like to take us years to fully solve. He also litters the game with a host of very literal easter eggs, scattered and hidden across the game map by the many bunnies in the well.

These are so difficult to find, communities have formed online for players to exchange information and collaborate to work their way through the eggs. The many discord channels dedicated to this have made Animal Well really feel like an honorary "co-operative" game. I too, found myself turning to my online friends for some of the harder puzzles. They are a nice community and very helpful.

I would normally use this last paragraph to rattle off a few of the things I didn't like but I can't bring myself to do that this week. Apart from occasional frustration of not finding the solution of a puzzle fast enough, I had such a good time with this game that I cannot think of anything critical to say. It may not have the kind of production value or immersive quality of bigger games, but I so thoroughly enjoyed myself all the way through. Maybe that reflects something about me. I don't want to fight my way through a landscape, worrying about health, stamina and stats. I just want to find hidden keys to unlock doors. I want to trick big flamings. I want to ride on the jumping rabbits. I want capybaras to be my footstools.

Animal Well is available for the PC (priced at ₹1,100), as well as the PlayStation 5 and Nintendo Switch.

A SHARADHAA

VIKRAM Ravichandran is currently in recovery, undergoing his second round of physiotherapy for a shoulder injury. "It's been quite the journey," Vikram shares, mentioning that the injury occurred during the climax shoot of his upcoming film, Mudhol during a grueling six-day action sequence. "No stunts, just pure intensity," the actor explains, recalling the pain he endured on April 30. "It might take another month or so to completely recover," he says adding that even stunt master Ravi Varma, got injured while choreographing the stunts.

Despite setbacks, Vikram's spirits remain high as he talks about shaping the Karthik Rajan directorial, Mudhol, which is nearing completion. "Mudhol is shaping up to be even bigger than expected," he reveals. The actor is excited to don the producer's hat for this ambitious project, relaunching his home banner, Eswari Productions. "Mudhol isn't just a film, it's going to be a leap forward in my career. I have taken a subject that is less chosen by actors of my age group. It's a cinematic palace I'm building—unique and versatile," he says.

With only two songs and five days of talkie portions left to film, Vikram doesn't want to reveal much about the preparation he had to do to play the younger version of his character. "There's some suspense there," he teases. Behind the scenes, post-production work is in full swing, with dubbing for the film to begin in the coming week. "We're aiming for a release this year," Vikram says confidently.

Looking ahead, Vikram talks about a slew of projects lined up. "From the second half of 2024 onwards, you'll see me in diverse roles," he promises. "I'm collaborating with fresh directors to keep things exciting."

Mudhol will be the first Kannada film of Karthik Rajan, who has previously worked on a Tamil web series, with director Vijay Chandar and has served as the writer of the Telugu film Raju Gari Gadi 2. The film, with Sanjana Anand as female lead sharing the screen with Vikram for the first time, will have music by Yuvaraj and editing by PK.

Coming to Premaloka 2, an ambitious project to be directed by his father, Ravichandran, and will star his brother and himself. "Right now, all my attention is on Mudhol," he says, acknowledging the potential of Premaloka 2. "I know it is shaping out to be a big film, but I have less knowledge about how my father is putting things together. But for sure, Premaloka 2 will be one of its kind," he signs off.

Currently recovering from his injury, Vikram remains enthusiastic about his upcoming sophomore film, where he'll also take the reins as a producer

CE FEATURES

AFTER releasing the teaser, the makers of Chilli Chicken have now unveiled the trailer of the film, on the Anand Audio channel. Directed by newcomer Prateek Prajosh, who has previously contributed to Bollywood hits like Padmavati and Andhadhun, the film is produced by Deep Bhimajiyani and Sudha Nambiar's Metanoia Studios.

Starring B V Shruna, known for his role in the well-received Mansore directorial 19.20.21, Chilli Chicken follows the journey of five young men employed at a Bengaluru hotel, nurturing ambitions of opening their own Chinese eatery. Set entirely in Bengaluru, the film draws inspiration from a real-life incident that caught the attention of music director Siddhanth Sundar during a restaurant visit. Sundar shared the peculiar encounter with director Prateek Prajosh, who expanded the concept into a full-fledged film.

Despite the challenges inherent in adapting real events to the screen, the team behind Chilli Chicken has managed to craft a good narrative. With five tracks penned by rapper Martin, the film plans to offer engaging storytelling and entertainment for the audiences. DHANANJAY takes the wheel as Kotee, an ordinary driver with an extraordinary dream: to earn one crore rupees through honest means and support his family. But the heartbeat of Kotee's family lies in actor Thara, who plays his mother; Pruthvi Shamanur as his carefree brother Nachchi, and Thanuja Venkatesh as his supportive sister Mahathi.

The addition of the two upcoming talents completes the cast adding freshness.

Pruthvi Shamanur, who made his debut in the film industry with Padavi Poorva directed by Hariprasad Jayanna, portrays Nachchi, Kotee's cheerful brother. Thanuja Venkatesh, with a theatre background, makes her debut as Mahathi, the hero's pillar of strength. Expressing his excitement, Pruthvi says, "Playing Nachchi has been an exhilarating journey. I'm thankful for the chance to contribute to such a significant project." Thanuja echoes his sentiment, sharing, "Bringing Mahathi to life has been incredibly fulfilling. Working alongside Dhananjay, Thara, and Pruthvi felt like being part of a real family."

Director Param applauds the newcomers, noting, "Pruthvi Shamanur's portrayal of Nachchi adds depth to the film, while Thanuja Venkatesh's debut performance infuses her character with vitality." Kotee's cast also includes Moksha Kushal as the female lead, and Ramesh Indira as the antagonist, supported by seasoned actor Rangayana Raghu. With music by Vasuki Vaibhav, the film has Nobin Paul composing the background score. The film's technical crew also comprises editor Pratheek Shetty and cinematographer Arunbhrama. Kotee, produced by Jio Studios, is set to hit theatres on June 14.

is relatable for the audience. They should feel like they're part of the story, surrounded by the characters. In Love Li we dig into the complexities of love, exploring both beautiful and dark facets," he reveals.

For Chethan, casting was an equal challenge. He chose Vasishtha Simha, known and popular for his antagonist and character roles, to play the lead in a romantic thriller. "An actor is an actor, irrespective of whether they've played villains or supporting roles. I had two reasons for choosing Vasishtha. Firstly, to prove my directorial skills, I needed a talented actor who could bring my vision to life. Secondly, I wanted to break the stereotype and show Vasishtha's versatility. He's great with humour and has a heroic presence, a side that audiences have yet to see. It was exciting to showcase him differently, and he supported me. It's my responsibility to change the perception of Vasishtha as just a villain after Love Li, making him a hero in the eyes of the audience."

The film, produced by Ravindra Kumar under Abhuvanasa Creations banner also marks the Kannada debut of Stefy Patel. The extended cast of the film includes Dattanna, Sadhu Kokila, Malavika Avinash, Shobharaj, Sameeksha, child artiste Vanshika, and Shekar. The film has music by Anoop Seelin and cinematography by Ashwin Kennedy.

Is it necessary for today's directors to spend three years on a film? "For a debut director like me, eager to showcase his skills by bringing the film to the theatres, I didn't want Love Li's making to take three years. However, various factors came into play, from producer investments to actors' schedules. I initially committed to a year, but practical issues stretched it to three. It's a learning experience for my first film, and some lessons require time."

As Love Li gears for release, Chethan says he has already penned seven scripts. "I have a story for every type of actor, and I'm eager to collaborate with those who trust my vision and give me creative freedom," he signs off.
